Hail, Enid High School! Noble and strong,
 To thee with loyal hearts we raise our song!
 Swelling to Heaven loud our praises ring,
 Hail, Enid High School! Of thee we sing.

Majesty as a crown rests on thy brow;
 Pride, Honor, Glory, Love, before thee bow.
 Ne'er can thy spirit die, thy walls decay;
 Hail, Enid High School, for thee we pray.

Hail, Enid High School! Guide of our youth,
 Lead thou thy children on to light and truth.
 Thee, when death summons us, others shall praise,
 Hail, Enid High School, through endless days.

Mr. Duckitt -

I have really enjoyed being under you in Biology this year. I have really learned a lot in Biology this year and I think you are a wonderful teacher. You really get your point across. Best of luck in future classes. Joan Marler

Foreword

This is your yearbook. The twenty-second edition of the Quill annual. Our purpose is to have you recall the funny experiences, warm friendships, and fond memories of your high school days.

The chapters from the beginning to the end of the school year are included within the pages of this annual. If, in later years, you can smile in remembrance of your days in EHS, our purpose will have been realized.

—BEN HARRISON
Editor

Mr. Duckett,
I want to wish you
lots of luck in the future.
I really enjoyed being in your class this year. Keep smiling always,

Dedication

To you, the administrators of education;
to you, the faculty; to you, the citizens of Enid; to you, the students of Enid High school;
we dedicate the 1955 Quill annual.

The drive and leadership of the administrators and faculty made the book possible. The farsighted wisdom of the citizens of Enid, in voting the new wing addition, made the theme "Building" a reality, and the students whose interest in worthwhile activities will make the class motto "Tomorrow, Better Than Today", come true.

Administration

BY JO ANN TEMPLEMAN

The responsibility of making the Enid School system, and a school the size of Enid High run smoothly lies beyond the students and faculty, it is the responsibility of seven of Enid's outstanding citizens, the Board of Education.

Three of these members are elected to the Board for a term of four years by Enid citizens every two years and one member is elected at-large. The members work without actual pay for their time and effort, just as a church member and club officer work without pay, but the members feel they are repaid by the appreciation shown by Enid students and parents.

The Board this year is headed by the president, Mrs. Clyde E. Pinkerton and vice president, R. F. Hayes. Other members are Mrs. Clarence Schrock, Cleo Fisher, E. G. Wilmoth, Dave Bucher, and Albert Braithwaite.

Six committees under the supervision of the president handle the comprehensive problems that arise.

The Building and Grounds Committee is composed of Cleo Fisher, chairman, Delma Schrock and E. G. Wilmoth, members. The Custodian's Committee is made up of Raymond Hayes, chairman, Dave Bucher and Cleo Fisher, members. The Finance Committee is headed by Delma Schrock, chairman, Dave Bucher and Cleo Fisher, members. The Insurance Committee is composed of E. G. Wilmoth, chairman, Delma Schrock and Dave Bucher, members. Dave Bucher is chairman of the Purchasing Committee with Cleo Fisher and Raymond Hayes, members. Raymond Hayes, chairman, and E. G. Wilmoth, Delma Schrock, make up the Teachers' Committee. A Sights Committee is appointed by the president each year to watch the growth of the city and purchase school sights when necessary. The chairman of this committee is E. G. Wilmoth with Cleo Fisher and Raymond Hayes, members.

The Superintendent of Schools, hired by the board is DeWitt Waller. Also employed to assist with the work are Martin H. Miller, Clerk; Henry H. Davis, Treasurer; Charles W. Carroll, Auditor; and Paul Edwards, Attorney. Maintenance Superintendent is Paul Baker who replaces Gene Mood who recently moved to Wichita, Kansas.

Of the School Board's many projects this year, the one of greatest interest to Enid High was the completion of the east wing which includes nine classrooms, the spacious cafeteria, and auditorium. In 1943 the highschool met destruction with fire, and in 1947 a part of the present building was rebuilt. In the fall of 1949, the west wing was completed which includes the machine shop, nine classrooms, the swimming pool and two complete gyms, one for the boys and one for the girls. With the completion of the east wing this year,

On Tuesday, March 8, the new auditorium was dedicated to the past, present, and future students of Enid High School. This first assembly symbolized the uncountable hours of labor to make the new wing a reality.

The credit for the new wing cannot rest entirely with a few people. The voters, who were wise enough to see the need for an auditorium wing, the workmen, from the architects to the bricklayers, and the administrators who gave so much time and energy to this project.

An evidence of the many hours that De Witt Waller, superintendent of schools, gave, is his numerous trips to see if each phase of the construction was being carried out correctly.

"Since the day after the fire disaster, plans for rebuilding a better Enid High were already in motion. However, due to the increased enrollment in the elementary schools, funds were not available to do anything about rebuilding the high school. This year marks the end of the waiting period. A high school that is usable and functional, built with the student in mind, is the end result of twelve years of careful planning," related Mr. Waller.

"Enid High School with the 'new look' of the auditorium wing will add to the educational, spiritual, and cultural development of students for many years to come," concluded Mr. Waller.

To illustrate the driving force of D. Bruce Selby, principal, is the devoted, enthusiastic spirit he has demonstrated throughout the entire project. "Enid High School exists for one reason. For the students, and it is for the students' personal convenience that we strive to improve our facilities," stated Mr. Selby.

"The completion of the auditorium wing certainly didn't lessen any of the work of the faculty or of the principal's office. In fact, never have we been so busy before," he added.

"From a peanut stand to the Pentagon, the amount of achievement is not measured in the end product, but in the spirit and enthusiasm in which the job is carried out. The spirit of Enid High School is never to be questioned. The new wing addition with the auditorium, cafeteria, and classrooms is here to give the future students of Enid High School the most modern and efficient facilities in which to receive an education," stated Mr. Selby.

A New Wing - From the Viewpoint of a Nail

BY DONNA O'NEIL

This is my biography. Of course, you might not be interested in the life of a nail, but my life tells the story of the building which played a big role in your school life.

Remember you were just juniors when it all started. I guess, it was the first day that you noticed the noise that my life began. For some time I had been a prisoner in a keg of nails. Then one day a man reached in with his hand and picked up several of my inmates and me. For a second I didn't know just what was going to happen, the man had singled me out from the others and was holding me perpendicular to the wall of something or other. Just as I was about to relax, a large object which I later learned was a hammer came rushing toward me; but I ducked. My body was bent and the man was using the most terrifying language. I dare not repeat it, partly because I was so stunned by the blow that I doubt if I could be relied on to make a correct quote. I lost consciousness and when I awoke I found myself on a ledge. Since there was no escape at the time, I took a nap.

For several weeks I remained on the ledge. I spent most of the time sleeping, but one day I was awakened by voices from below. I peered over the edge of the ledge and was able to see one boy. In order to see the other one, I leaned further over the ledge. As I lost my balance, I was glad that my life had been limited to the extent that I was unable to commit any grave sins. However, life was not over; I found myself in the cuff of the boy's blue jeans. Although I was washed several times, and ironed just as many times, I never lost my place in the cuff. From the cuff, I saw the life of Enid High School; and its growth.

To me the noise of the construction workers and their machines had always been exciting. How narrow minded I would have remained, if I had not fallen off the ledge. My visits to the classrooms broadened my education, and they also gave me my first taste of other people's opinions. For instance, I found that most of the teachers and students did not find the bulldozers or the riveting or the hammering the least bit exciting. It was easy to see why, the memory of Mrs. Lloyd Spencer trying to be heard over the noise will haunt me forever. During the noisy days she would have to talk so loudly, that during the quiet days she would be so hoarse that she couldn't be heard. The building was not all roses.

Since I had spent some of my earlier days viewing the construction work in the new wing, I was very eager for its completion; and had found a real love in my heart for it. Naturally I never expected it to wreck my home life in the cuff, which it almost did. Principal D. Bruce Selby had given me a clue which if I had heeded would have prepared me for the situation. He warned the classes about the lockers, and he was right it was almost my undoing. My master was in quite a rush when it happened. He needed a book for his next class, and the locker stuck. Forgetting Mr. Selby's advice about controlling his temper, he took a couple of practice kicks in the air. I had been resting at the time, and it was certainly an awful experience to wake up and find myself swinging back and forth in a wide arch. For several moments I felt sure I would be sent flying from my home, but with all my strength I was able to hold on. Incidentally, he didn't kick the locker; Mr. Selby came around the corner, which possibly saved my master a broken foot.

Due to my crooked body, I was able to hang over the edge of the cuff without any fear of falling. After living in a world where the only change in scenery was a new pair of shoes, I was a very happy nail the day that I got my first view of the cafeteria. By peering over the edge of the cuff, I could see that the floor was of white asphalt tile with green dashes of color in it; and there was a border of green tile with specks of white . . . very interesting country. Also, the walls, as far as I could see, were of cream colored cement bricks. By counting 344 table legs, I was able to discover the number of tables in the cafeteria: 86. Since there were 24 chair legs at each table, I figured there were six chairs at each table. This information was made available through my mathematics course taught by Miss Ruth Moore. The tables were of nice blonde wood, but I never got a chance to see the color of the tops of the tables . . . a cuff does have disadvantages. One lunch hour I was really very nervous, my master ate dinner with a girl; and after becoming accustomed to blue jeans I just couldn't relax. Oh, but this was after the auditorium was finished.

The happiest day of my life was the day Mr. Selby called all the seniors into the auditorium for a sneak preview. Those blue walls were so beautiful; two shades of blue, and trimmed with white borders. I'll never, never forget it! The seats had pretty red cushions, and they must have been comfortable because my master was awfully slow about getting up. The curtains were lovely. You could raise or lower them to any position by the press of a button. The loveliest curtain of all was the grand curtain, which was usually a tannish rose color; but it could change colors when different colored lights hit it. At another time I saw the scene of a room on the stage, and it even had a ceiling. The room was for The Thespian Play, which I

Girl's State

BY CAROLYN MUIR

Saturday, June 5, ready for a wonderful week at Girls' State, five excited girls, who had come all the way from Enid, got off the bus at Chickasha. But that wasn't the beginning. It all began with the junior girls writing a fifty-word theme on "Why I Want to Go to Girls' State". They also listed their achievements and activities in high school. The five lucky girls who were chosen to represent Enid at Chickasha were: Pat Phillips, Deanna Spickelmier, Karen Crowley, Jerrie Pinkerton, and Carolyn Muir.

When they arrived on the campus, the girls were divided into cities and counties, and the two parties, the Boomers and the Sooners. Then they spent the rest of the day unpacking and getting acquainted with some of the three hundred and sixty-two girls who had come to Girls' State. On Sunday, everyone attended church services and had their pictures taken, one picture of the entire group and one of each city. Sunday evening there were vespers conducted by Reverend Robert Noeve of Norman, then reports on Girls' Nation were given by last year's delegates, Governor La Vena Park and Lieutenant Governor Jane Bailey.

Classes in government were held every day by Samuel W. Evans, the educational director, and every evening each city held a devotional, which was given by one of its citizens.

On Monday evening the girls were entertained by Richard Hudnut's "Charm Hour". The demonstrators used two of the girls to show ways to use make-up and gave door prizes of cosmetics to a few lucky girls.

Tuesday party conventions were to decide the candidates for state officers for each party. Pat Phillips was nominated for Governor by the Sooner party against Judy Hillier for

Seniors Star In Space

BY PHIL JONES, MONA LICHTENBERG, DAN DURHAM, EMAGENE JENKINS AND JANE CAREY

—As told by Sgt. 1st Class Phil Jones of the UBI—

Five—four—three—two—ONE! Blast off! Wh-sh-sh-sh-oo-oo-osh!!! Cut blast rockets — glide path — set automatic controls.

"Navigator LaVonda Brewer."

"Yes, Commander Jane Carey."

"Set the course for Mercury. Send up Cadets Mona Lichtenberg and Emagene Jenkins and the two UBI (Universal Bureau of Investigation) men, Dan Durham and Phil Jones."

When the four came up, Commander Carey spoke, "We have called you up here to brief you on our mission. We have received word that the rocket ship, Stratogem, is headed for Mercury. We will land there at 0800 hours. Our mission is to catch the gang of Krypton thieves. Their leader is Emil Benjamin Harrison alias Baby Faced Benjie. Return to your cabins and prepare for landing. Navigator Brewer, contact Arden Slusher on the cool side of Mercury and get instructions for landing."

Having landed on Mercury the UBI boys headed for the local moon-burger joint and quite surprisingly discovered Judy Grove as chief hash-slinger.

After questioning the curb hops,

Dewayne Kabetzke, Mike Nicolson, John O'Neil, Mark Winebrenner, Jim Sturdivant, and Bill Langkiet, Judy settled the crew for the floor show. As a special attraction the torch singer, Jerrie Pinkerton, led off with her rendition of "Three Space Ships Are A Crowd." Tripping the light fantastic with Jerrie were Jo Ellen Barnes, Terry Torbett, Bonnie Light, Ann Henneke, Jessie Chapman, Carolyn Walters, Patsy Stapleton, Deanna Spickelmier, Margaret Luhr, and Marilyn Fraizer.

After interrogating the floor show, we moved over to the warm side of Mercury where J. W. Moore, Neal Hoffman, Barbara Anstead, Cynthia Merritt, Shirley Leslie, Mary Blanchard, Elmer Hunt, and Jack Posey were basking themselves in the molten lava.

Upon returning to the space ship, we found Mona Rae Adams and David Metscher refueling the rockets.

Setting down on Venus, we noticed the atmosphere was much chillier than normal. Suspecting trouble, the UBI boys took the cadets with them.

We discovered the desperadoes had already been there and had frozen the people with their zero guns. Those crystalized were Ruth Baker, Shirley Blockcolski, Pat Martin, Emma Goodwin, Mervin Noah, Bert Bucher, Teresia Parson, Bob Thorpe, Nancy Peat, Ray Downs, and David Hildebrandt. We quickly whipped out our zero guns, reversed the ray, and restored them to life.

Upon questioning Ray, we found that the seven thieves had headed for the Venus Gardens. There we found Teddy Brittain, Donnie Weldon, Raymond Hendrie, and John Pellow admiring the statue of Venus De Milo. They were so engrossed in the statue that we could not even reach them with our super hadedrom transmitter.

As we continued on our journey, we were blinded by a flash of bright light and looked up to see the Stratogem just blasting off for Earth. We rushed back to our space cruiser and blasted off in pursuit. We were preparing to land on Earth when Cadet Lichtenberg discovered on her radar-scope that they were headed for Mars for which we immediately set our course. We circled the planet, hoping to find a space ship; but failing to

Junior Journey

BY CAROL CASHION

"All aboard everybody! Our bus is West Wabash bound for a tour of the jaunty juniors, otherwise known as the 'Class of '56!' Hurry, hurry, because we don't want to miss one single point of interest in this talent-laden class.

Serving as guides for our tour are the Junior Class officers, Floyd Skarky, president; Charlene Hicks, vice-president; Steve McKeever, secretary; Carol Franks, treasurer; and Merlene Duckworth, reporter.

After we've settled back comfortably in our seats, the guide calls our attention to nineteen boys striving for glory on the gridiron. They are: Bill Lang, John Marler, Bob Atkinson, Mark Ritchie, Grady King, Keith Roberts, H. L. Crites, Billy Max Francis, John Doop, Jerry Koehn, Bob Holcomb, Bill Anderson, Dale Hathoot, Bruce Torbett, Everett Hess, David Rudkin, Allen Parker, Kenneth Bull, and Keith Gordon.

It is pointed out to us that there are twelve juniors ably representing their class on the EHS basketball squad. They include: Floyd Skarky, H. L. Crites, Gail Crawford, Ronnie Feger, John Doop, John Marler, Bob Dundas, Dean Montgomery, Billy Max Francis, Jim Carnell, Gary Grimes, and Grady King. Bob Bailey was one of those hard-working managers.

As we near the baseball diamond, we see sixteen junior hopefuls out for baseball. They are: Bob Atkinson, Bob Bailey, Kenneth Bull, Donald Burns, H. L. Crites, Gail Crawford, Bob Conklin, Tod Dixon, Bob Holcomb, Grady King, John Marler, Howard Poslick, Mark Ritchie, Kenneth Sparks, and Bob Warren.

Rounding out the spring sports

we see two golfers, Charles Swartz and Earl West; and eight boys represented in track: Billy Francis, Bill Lang, Bob Atkinson, H. L. Crites, Keith Roberts, Tom White, Ken Richardson, and Phil Harriss.

Proving that the class isn't entirely athletic-minded are the junior members of the Oklahoma Honor Society which include: Carolyn Albright, Ray Asfahl, Richard Autry, Sandra Barris, Marilyn Bell, Mildred Buschmeyer, Wade Chambers, Willa Jean Cook, Pat Driever, Rose Etta Durbin, Nancy Earnest, Kenneth Funk, Monty Funk, Mary Eva Heffron, Everett Hess, Lynn Jobe, Jane Johnstone, Kay Kaufman, James Landrum, Virginia Merritt, Ralph Myers, Donnis Oakley, Elaine Palecek, Jean Pearson, Colleen Peck, David Russell, Dick Scarritt, Jimmy Schardein,

Boy's State

BY BEN HARRISON

The 1954 session of Oklahoma Boys' State was held on the North Base Campus of the University of Oklahoma during the week of June 7 to June 13. Five hundred and eight boys from all over the state attended this week of fun and education in the processes of our state and local government. The event was sponsored by the American Legion in co-operation with local civic clubs of Oklahoma interested in youth of our state.

Registering in the Administration Building, and receiving standard State "gear", consisting of two "T" shirts, party assignments, either Boomer or Sooner, cities where you stayed, and an official identification badge, began the memorable week. Each boy was classified as a "citizen" of Boys' State. Every delegate from Enid was placed in separate cities, so everyone would meet citizens from other towns.

Two things occurred every day of the week. One was looked forward to with great anticipation, the other however, wasn't quite so popular. The two events were class and recreation. In the class period, competent instructors from the university and authorities in the field of state government, lectured about every phase of Oklahoma's laws and by-laws. During the recreation period, sports of every nature were available to all who wanted to participate.

On Sunday, church services were held for all citizens. The Boys' State Choir sang several hymns, to put the entire assembly in a worshipful and receptive mood for the sermon. The Reverend Stanley Ray from Clinton, delivered a truly inspiring message. That evening all citizens heard reports of Boys' Nation by Fred Tillman of Pawhuska, and Dallas Patton of Ardmore, delegates to the national version of Boys' State last year.

Bar examinations were offered to all citizens who desired to practice law in the courts of Boys' State. Attorneys who successfully completed the exam from Enid included: Bert Bucher, Larry Long, Ben Harrison, Bob Murray, Paul Rempel, Bob O'Brien, Owen Wilson, Richard Gott, and Jerry Wilkins.

Monday evening brought the campaign speeches and rallies for the various candidates running for state offices. The election held the next day proved the Boomers were better politicians than the Sooners. Only two Sooners were elected out of thirteen possible offices. Two citizens from Enid, Owen Wilson, and Bob O'Brien, were elected to the House of Representatives. Other candidates from Enid who aspired for office were: Bert Bucher, Attorney General; Larry Long, Corporation Commissioner; John Rempel, County Superintendent of Schools; Paul Rempel, House of Representatives; Richard Gott, County Assessor; Ben Harrison, Senate; Jerry Wilkins, City Manager; Bob Murray, Reading Clerk for House; Ray Potter, originally from Jet who is a 1955 EHS graduate, Member of State Board of Agriculture.

The basic issues in the election were repealing prohibition, and allowing 18 year-olds to vote. In the opening session of the legislature both bills passed the houses. The prohibition bill was killed by the Senate, and Governor Wayne Hensley vetoed the bill letting 18 year-olds vote. In a very convincing speech Governor Hensley persuaded the House not to override his veto. This highlighted the legislative program for the week.

A variety show consisting of all Boys' State talent was held Wednesday. The junior councilors "Busted up" the program showing how they elected a governor in the "Good Old Days", to the extreme delight of every citizen. The Boys' State band gave a concert Thursday evening to credit any high school band in the state.

On Friday, the last full day of Boys' State, two of the most important events were scheduled. The examination, testing one's knowledge of what he had learned from his textbook and lectures about state government: the annual Boys'-Girls' State dance, to be held on the North Base Campus. After the exam was finished, all citizens began to "slick-up" for the arrival of the Girl Staters from Chickasha. The dance was a lot of fun, and a fitting climax for the week's activities.

Saturday morning was the last time the Boys' State citizens assembled. The Koch City flag, Melvin Brown's boys doing extra exercises, the Variety Show, and the many, many, other experiences of this week became memories to be cherished always. With good-byes and promises to renew friendships, the 1954 version of Boys' State came to an end.

One singular experience stands out above all others. As each day began and ended, the American flag was raised and lowered, with 500 boys standing at attention. This feeling the historians and philosophers say is Patriotism. Words are inadequate to express this feeling. It unites every person with a sense of duty, respect, and obligation to that flag. This is the real objective of Boys' State. Freedom's cause, the cause that men have died for through the years. This training at Boys' State makes one aware of his great responsibility to God, to country, and to his fellow-man.

Administration

Enid High is now one of the most practical and finest equipped high schools anywhere.

This year $350,000 was voted in bonds to be used for the Enid schools. Plans have been made to build four new classrooms and one large basement room on to Adams Elementary School. Classrooms for Monroe and Coolidge schools are also planned. The junior highs are to be remodeled by enlarging the dressing room and cafeteria at Emerson Junior High and building a balcony in the Longfellow auditorium.

The students of Enid High School want to express their gratitude to these seven Enid citizens for their unselfish, tireless effort in all they have accomplished and their constant striving for improvement of the Enid School System.

Future Class of '57

BY CAMILLA WOODS

It's getting to be that time again when all the "small fry" (meaning sophies, what else?) of Enid High School will have their chance to be a big, nasty ole' over-ruling upper-classman.

The story usually runs along the line that sophomores are timid, shy, little creatures, sorta afraid to enter into much, rather backward, and all that. When the all school play, "Night of January 16th" rolled around, it looked like this certainly was the case, 'cause only one sophie, Eleanor Northrop, was brave enough to break down the barrier and come to tryouts. It paid well, however, and Eleanor received a major role in the production.

And, of course, there was the annual election of class officers. Maybe these sophomores weren't so dumb after all, certainly appears like they knew what they were doing, picking these kids to lead 'em on: President, Howard Roe; Vice President, Sue Holley; Secretary, Johnny Walker; Treasurer, Claudia Shannon; Reporter, Jody Dozier.

Believe it or not, eleven of these "so called shy people" made their way to the library staff: Claudia Shannon, Sue Arnold, Larry Baldwin, Karen Brinson, Karen Ludwig, Diane Miller, Zella Murray, Pat O'Leary, Donna O'Neill, Carol Ross, and Mike Metscher.

Practically a majority of sophomores were accepted into GRA: Sue Arnold, Maxine Brewer, Pat Danahy, Lynne Easterly, Anna Ent, Gretchen Fields, Peggie Franke, Geraldine Greer, Linda Holmes, Waunita Howell, Shirley Lebow, Gerri Link, Karen Ludwig, Pat McDaniel, Arlene McLemore, Lucy Hope, Letty

Goltry, Judy Denton, Ellen Moore, Donna O'Neill, Dorothy Resler, Peggy Robinson, Sally Rogers, Darleen Skinner, Melda Spaulding, Joan States, Phyllis Stutchman, Dorothy Wahl, and Ida Marie Wilson.

The boys got the jump on the girls as far as swimming goes. Four boys, George Tappan, Larry Grantham, Don Mize, and Jerry Rowley, made the Boys Swimming Club and two girls, Letty Goltry and Gerri Link, proved their skill by being accepted as Aquaettes.

Only one timid lil' sophie, Howard Roe, made the grade of office assistant.

It's really beginning to look as though these people aren't so backward, 'cause five husky boys forced their way right up to a position on the "A" football squad: Howard Roe, Ray Gene Robertson, Jerry Keel-

Point of Order, Mr. Chairman

BY PAT DENNIS

"To you is entrusted the student dignity of Enid High School. It is by your deeds and actions that she is judged for you are her representative."

It is these words, although never spoken, which stand for each Student Council member, for Student Council at E. H. S. is not just a club but an institution.

This year, as always, the council had added many new improvements to the already outstanding building. Most important, no doubt, was the starting of the first annual Sadie Hawkins Week. For the first time in Enid High history the girls took the upper hand in night life activity by doing all the askin', payin', and totin' for. The week beginning March 14 with an assembly, was climaxed the 18th by an all school dance at the Legion Hall.

The organization, besides taking care of all school sponsored elections, handles, with the aid of the printing department, the production of the student directories. The directory covers, submitted by the art classes, are chosen during one of the meetings with the final vote being cast by the officers.

At the first of the year, to bestow the good wishes of the school upon the newly enrolled students, a party was held in the old cafeteria. To carry out the theme of the party, games designed to acquaint the honorees were mapped out and played.

October 22 brought to Enid High School, Ponca City students after presenting their exchange assembly, were played host to by Student Council officers and Miss Moore in a milk and donut session afterward in the cafeteria. Next on the agenda was a conducted tour during which notable points of interest were viewed.

In case wonderings have arisen as to the variety of reading and viewing matter in the front hall bulletin board, the council is again the source. Judy Grove offered her innumerable talents to take over the terrible task of keeping the little gossip board well supplied with choice copy.

Two open houses, November 9 and April 1, were on their busy slate. The members acted as hosts and hostesses and squired the parents around the building.

An important item discussed was the production of a Student Hand Book. The book containing the rules and by-laws of Enid High will be given to new students coming to the Enid School system from other towns.

Highlighting the year for four members was the State Student Council Convention held this year in Duncan, Oklahoma, during the December 3rd, 4th, and 5th weekend. The four students representing their respective classes were: Merlene Duckworth, junior; Howard Roe, sophomore; Terry Torbett, senior; and Larry Long, president. Miss Moore accompanied the group.

Heading the council this year were the following student body officers: Larry Long, president; John Pellow, vice-president; Judy Grove, secretary; Pat Dennis, treasurer; and Emagene Jenkins, reporter, with Miss Ruth Moore, sponsor.

Those contributing to the Student Council's many achievements are: Sally Bonham, first semester, and Ann Austin, second semester, Miss Armould's homeroom; Joan Marler, first semester, and Sally Bonham, second semester, Mrs. Boyle's homeroom; Dorothy Hart, Miss Correll's homeroom; Howard Roe, Mr. Duckett's homeroom; Bob Warren, Mr. Farrant's homeroom; Sandy Barris, Miss Fromholz's homeroom; Carolyn Higgins, first semester, Donna O'Neil, second semester, Mr. Gott's homeroom; Mary Edith Taylor, Miss Helema's homeroom; Janet Jones, first semester, Dorothy Resler, second semester, Miss Higgins' homeroom; Judy Denton, first semester, Mike Metscher, second semester, Mrs. Jones' homeroom; Karen Ludwig, Mr. Keeton's homeroom; Bob Davis, Mr. Kirk's homeroom; Jane Carey, Miss Kretsch's homeroom; Donna Roberts, Mr. McCoy's homeroom; Jim Osborne, Mr. Michael's homeroom; Kay Watson, Miss Milam's homeroom; Charlene Hicks, Miss Montgomery's homeroom; Merlene Duckworth, first semester, Ray Potter, second semester, Miss Moyer's homeroom; Mary Helen Bogert, Mr. Myers' homeroom; Paul Ruth, Mr. Paine's homeroom; Bob Bish, Mrs. Poindexter's homeroom; Carolyn Walters, Miss Powers' homeroom; Larry Baldwin, Mrs. Pratt's homeroom; Allan Munkres, first semester, Alice Carroll, second semester, Mr. Pratt's homeroom; David Adams, Mr. Provost's homeroom; Kenneth Funk, Mr. Pyle's homeroom; Sue Arnold, Mr. Ridge's homeroom; Mervin Noah, Mr. Seem's homeroom; Claudia Shannon, Mr. Smith's homeroom; Pat Thayer, Mrs. Spencer's homeroom; James Pride, Miss Stewart's homeroom; Jack Posey, Mr. Stroup's homeroom; Ida Marie Wilson, first semester, Diane Miller, second semester, Mrs. Vance's homeroom; James Gammon, first semester, Dan Durham, second semester, Mrs. Voigt's homeroom; Dennis Gibson, Miss Young's homeroom.

didn't get to see; because my master didn't wear my blue jeans. It took me four visits to the auditorium before I was able to figure out the number of seats. The exact number is 1,500 . . . I think.

The new wing also has twelve classrooms. The whole wing makes me feel really bad because I am not a part of it. Wait, what is this? Someone is pounding me in a wall. Well, thank goodness, it's part of the auditorium wall!

Seniors Star In Space

see it, we checked with the control tower on Mars to find out if any ship had entered or left the Mars orbit. We found that they had entered, so we set down to investigate.

As we stepped out of our ship, we saw the people of Mars eating their daily supply of chlorophyll capsules which makes them green-skinned. Among those licking their chops were J. W. Shaunty, Shirley Smith, Christina Welch, Rita Nivison, Roberta Duggan, Vance Peak, Gary Bloom, Donald Key, Gene Kurz, Pat Dennis, and Camilla Woods.

We traced the gang to the local saucer-port. The Commander of the Flying Saucer Squadron, Imo Cooper, introduced us to the pilots, Kay Dailey, Alan Livingston, Janet Wev-er, Deanna Fisher, Bob McCarthy, Charles Bailey, and Ronnie Davis. After cross-examining them, we found that the villains had confiscated another load of Krypton.

Careening through the Milky Way, we swept by the Dairy Maid No. 15, owned by Carole Shelp, and operated by Kent Corey. Having a double flip were Suda Bobbitt, Milton Andrews, Rosetta Hoyle, Richard Gott, Mary Helen Callas, and John Ferguson.

Landing on Jupiter, we traced our clues to the 1200th Annual Rodeo. Jess Brewer, Bill Ream, Linda Robbins, and Grace Rummery were entered in the bronc riding. In the bulldogging event were Joyce Edwards, Dolores Greer, Charles West, Jerry Cone, and Paul Rempel. Roping the calves were Carl Stanton, Bill Vickers, Jerry Wackerman, and Herb Wood. Robert Qualls and Charles Ranck were on hand for entertainment.

After inquiring about, it was reported to us that an unidentified space ship had broken through the space locks of Jupiter heading for Saturn.

Immediately, Commander Carey assembled us, and we took off for the three forbidden rings.

Landing, we climbed into our space suits and stepped out on airless and pressureless Saturn. Finding the Stratagem about 10 kilometers away, we proceeded to locate the desperadoes.

We entered the lower chambers where we found a wrestling match in progress. On the card for the main event that night was Karen Crowley and Phyllis Huffman vs. Cherrel Nall and Jean Krey in a tag team match. Refereeing the matches were Wally

Dear Diary,

The Y-Teens just returned from the state meeting of all Y-Teen clubs at Oklahoma City. Meetings of the club are held once a month, and foreign dishes and speakers from other countries are featured at the meetings.

During first semester, Jo Ann Jack served as the president and Jeanie Whitlock as vice-president. Dorothy Purnell was the secretary and Karen Woods, treasurer.

The officers for second semester are: Jo Ann Jack, president; Jeanie Whitlock, vice-president; Tacie McKinnon, secretary, and Dorothy Hart, treasurer.

Mrs. DeJuana Jones is the sponsor.

October 6

Dear Diary,

I took part in a radio broadcast over KGWA this evening. We discussed a timely issue over "Junior Town Meeting." Mrs. Una Voigt, sponsor, was moderator for the two-sided panel discussion.

David Sneary, president, chose the topic, and Kay Dailey, secretary, took charge of the publicity for the evening. The weekly broadcast features 4 panel members and a moderator.

October 23

D. Diary,

Enid's Phillips University was the scene of Unesco's sixth state convention. Ben Harrison, state president, presided over the informative meetings which were designed to show the problems of foreign countries. Also, Mrs. Una Voigt, sponsor, helped with arrangements.

I learned that the Enid High offices are filled by: Ben Harrison, president; Bob Murray, vice-president; Rosetta Hoyle, secretary; Karen Crowley, treasurer; Kay Dailey, reporter. Milton Andrews and Kent Corey completed the slate.

November 18

Dearest Diary,

Today I interviewed Mrs. Earl McCreary about her activity office assistants. I learned that there are eight seniors that help in the financial running of EHS. They include: Jim Brown, Elmer Hunt, Arden Slusher, Barbara Smith, Carol Bower, Chiquita Hosey, Ann Henneke and Carrie Carter. Juniors in training to take over the duties next year are: Marjorie Collier, Delores Smith and Jerry Frisk.

Dear Diary,

The tour of KGEO-TV today gave the Shutterbugs of EHS helpful information on photography. The camera club even has a dark room and a means for developing their own prints.

Tommy Thomason serves as president with Ray Asfahl, vice-president, and David Adams, secretary-treasurer. Jewell Ridge is the sponsor of the club.

Love and kisses,

Dear Diary,

At the meeting of the Future Nurses club today, Dr. Mark Holcomb was the guest speaker. Other guests this year included: Mrs. Virginia Steinert and Miss Evelyn Hayden who talked to the Future Nurses about the degree program for nurses.

Mary Helen Callas is the club's president with Jeaneen Collier as vice-president, Shirley Smith, secretary, and Marlene Cline, treasurer.

Mrs. Lois Vance sponsors the club, and meetings are held at the homes of doctors' wives.

Dear Diary,

The 4-H's sang Christmas carols at the Old Folks' Home tonight. This was one of their special activities for the year besides having a meeting once a month.

Melvin Semrad is the president of the club, while Deanna Spickelmier serves as vice-president; Barbara Anstead, songleader; Wendall Welker, gameleader, and Beverly Brummett, reporter.

Some of the 4-H members were winners in the county fair this year.

"Symphony, Song and Swing"

BY JERRIE PINKERTON

At the end of the summer of 1954 a loud wail filled the desolate halls and empty class rooms of Enid High School. What was it? But of course, it was Mr. Gerald Hemphill, band director, sounding his bugle call to round up the band members in time to begin what was to be the most exciting year to the members of the band in room 110. The 1954-55 Enid High School band was on its way to success, unpacking instruments after a summer's vacation, loosening the valves on the cornets, wetting the reeds of the saxophones and clarinets, oiling the slide trombones and tightening up the drums. Long hours of marching and practicing were to follow. In the halls of our alma mater you could always spot a band member, with sore muscles and charley horses from marching; however, each band member had a special gleam in his eye, for he knew that this limbering up process was just to last for a short time; then greater things were to come.

Wilkins, Asfahl, Gott, Yarborough, Guerink, Krausse, Danahy, Widney, Schrock, Knaus, Hancock, Dennis, Rainey, Murray, T. Hitchcock. Fourth row: Corey, Coulter, Wever, Templeman, DeLisle, Boyer, Callas, Hendricks, Geis, Unruh, Zeisset, Cooper, Peat, Hooley, Rogers, Aurell, Carey, Munkres, Cornelius, Sweatt Leighnor Roe. Bottom row seated: Qualls J. Rempel, Clements, P. Jones, Pyle, Crabtree, Muir, Suits, Johnstone, Taylor, Rahm, Bonham, Denker, Carey, Morris, Greer. Bottom row standing: Moxley, Etherton, Durbin, Lacy, Jenkins, Earnest, Duckworth, Torbett, Geis, Higgins, Smith, Dusbabek, Teale, Siler, Hope.

The band opened its splendid season at the Garber-Enid football game September 10. The crowds of spectators were amazed at the skill and perfection achieved in only a few short days.

The next appearance of the band was at the Cherokee Strip Celebration when the "western folks" appeared in jeans and plaid shirts to fit the occasion. Miss Emagene Jenkins, Miss Carolyn Higgins, and Miss Terry Torbett, candidates for Band Queen, were driven around the square in a convertible; however, the queen was not announced until the next evening, September 17 at the Enid-Stillwater football game when lovely Terry Torbett was crowned by Phil Jones, band president. The band and Bravettes marched in Terry's honor.

Football season was well along its way with the band plugging right with them adding pep and enthusiasm to the spectators as well as the team itself.

September 23 at the pep rally in front of the school the band with all its pep and energy plugged along with the fellow students to urge the team on.

Again on October 8 the band helped out with one of the pep assemblies, but this time it was completely a surprise to the student body. The band was practicing during most of the assembly at the football field, then the whole band and Mr. Hemphill headed for the Education building, marched right in, played several numbers and left again. The students got quite a kick out of it.

October 11 will be remembered by all of the band members. The band hats arrived! All of the band had worked so hard to get them. The hats completed the band uniforms.

The hats arrived just in time to make the trip to Dallas Cotton Bowl along with the band. All of the guys and gals making the trip will never forget the wonderful times had and that marvelous "southern hospitality." The band marched in grandeur through the streets of Dallas and received much praise and applause from the bystanders; however, in the hearts of the musicians was a feeling of pride and honor to be asked to represent the state of Oklahoma at Dallas.

The Bravettes joined again with the band at the Ponca City-Enid football game to honor our lovely Football Queen Judy Grove and her attendants Carol Cashion and Phyllis Huffman, October 22.

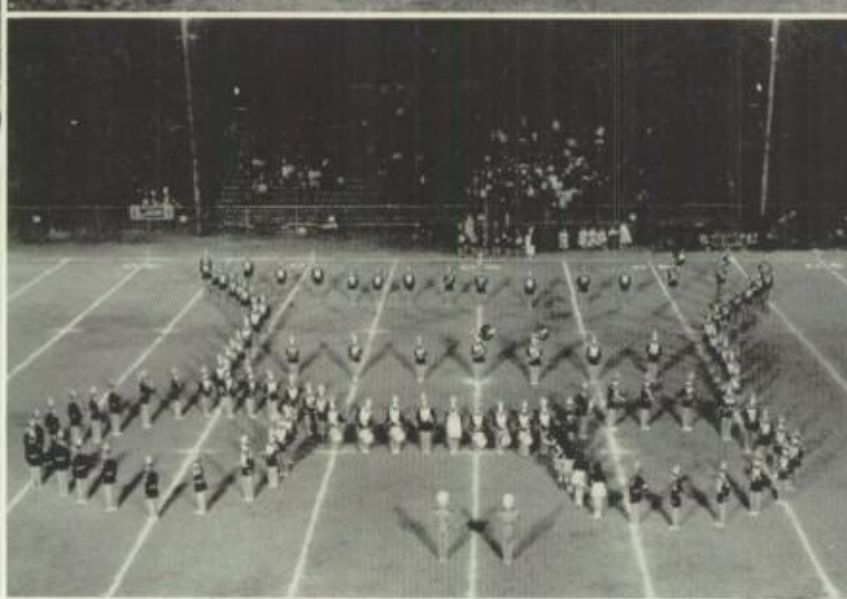

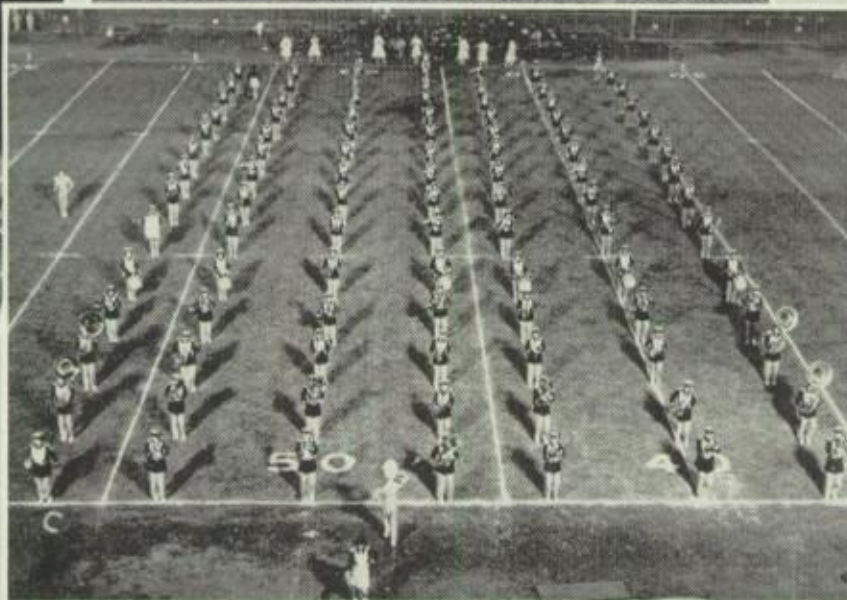

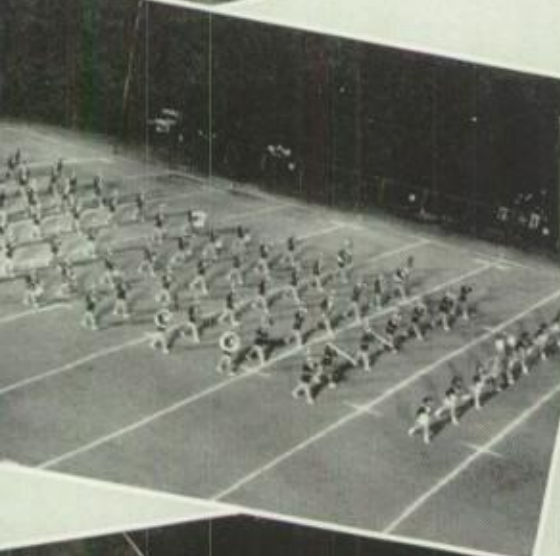

The band also entertained the spectators at the Classen-Enid, and Lawton-Enid football games with their halftime antics.

The band performed not only as a marching and concert band, but it also was broken into several different performing groups, the stage band, the German band, the cornet trio and the pep band.

The stage band directed by Milton Andrews and Grady King wowed audiences with their versions of the popular and hit tunes at the Oak-

"Time To Sing"

BY DEANNA FISHER

The sun shone brightly as the two tramp dogs trotted vigorously along in the crispy autumn air. Ahead loomed the big dark building, Enid High School. Many times during the summer months, Fido and Rover had passed the mysterious structure, but now it had become a bee-hive of activity. After a hasty decision, the two decided to make a thorough investigation. Placing paw before paw, the two cautiously climbed the stone steps to the entrance. As they entered the halls, strains of music came to their ears. Glancing knowingly at each other, the "partners in crime" continued toward the sounds to make further inquiries.

The vibrant sounds aroused their imaginative curiosity, and the "strays" peeked timidly in the door. The room was buzzing with activity. As nearly as the pups could make out, an election was taking place. Yes, that's it, an election. Seems to be all-girl officers, too; Deanna Fisher, president; Jerrie Pinkerton, vice-president; Bonnie Light, secretary-treasurer. Again the music began, and the "wanderers" sat contentedly listening, when out of nowhere a bell sounded. When the stampede terminated, Rover and Fido sat huddled together in a dark corner in the hall. "Don't we lead a dog's life!" exclaimed Rover as the two sneaked toward the nearest exit.

Not satisfied with their first trip, the two adventurous canines again returned to "the scene of the crime." This time, while trying to escape observation, the two overheard the strains of "White Evening", "Clap Yo' Hands", "Go Down Death", "Laudamus Te", "Sing We All",

"Grant Unto Us Thy Blessing", and the traditional "Hallelujah Chorus". The chorus was rehearsing for the thirteenth annual Thanksgiving choral festival to be held November 22 at Stillwater. The group was working feverishly, and Rover and Fido, enthralled by the beautiful music, did not notice a man with a railroad hat and overalls sneaking slowly upon the pair. Rover saw him just in time to bark the alert to Fido and as the two raced out of the building, they heard someone yell, "Catch them, Mr. Kirk." This savage yell no doubt pertained to the individual who was chasing the "intruders" out of the building.

"I would just love to go back and find out what happens at the Christmas vespers," said Rover. "Christmas vespers?" exclaimed Fido. "Who, why, where, when, and what are the Christmas vespers?"

"I overheard Miss Morrow, that's the director," explained Rover, "telling Shirley Leslie, Mary Dye, and Barbara Erwin, that over fifteen-hundred school children will take part in this event that will be held Decem-

"Well, you really get around don't you," Fido said. "Let's go to hear them sing." So the couple agreed, and when the day arrived, two unseen observers sat huddled together high in a corner of Convention Hall, closely listening to the beautiful chords that rose from the floor.

Later on in the winter, the pups were still discussing the wonderful time they had had at the Christmas vespers when again in their travels, they chanced upon the building, Enid High School. As Rover and Fido sat contemplating whether or not to chance going in the building again, the front door burst open, and two people, whom they recognized as Ann White and Bob Dundas, were discussing plans to sing at Kiwanis. Behind Ann and Bob were two more well-known couples, Jerrie Pinkerton and Vance Peak, and Karen Crowley and Elwyn Maddox. The couples were busily talking over various plans to attend civic affairs and sing in assemblies and passed by Rover and Fido without noticing the two admirers.

An open door was the perfect chance for which the dogs had been waiting. Darting quickly inside, the two proceeded down the stairs to the first floor toward their old "lookout post" outside the chorus room. They noticed, however, that the music they heard was not coming from the chorus room. The strains were drifting down from the newly completed auditorium. Being inquisitive, the pair journeyed up to the auditorium "to get the facts". As they entered, a strange sight came to their eyes. The glee club girls, with whom the two had become well acquainted, were on the stage practicing an Hawaiian dance. "Boy, this is some dance," said Rover. As the pups sat in the darkened auditorium, they were about discovered by four couples who were practicing what they called "the polka". They later learned that these couples were Joan Kudlac, Sue Holley, Naoma Deurkson, Claudine Harris, Danny Duggan, James Pride, Pat O'Leary, and Bobby Linderer. "They also were termed 'Sophomores' or something of the sort," said Fido, "and are going to dance the polka on the 'Time to Sing' program."

As the two watched, Carol Carlberg, accompanist for the mixed chorus, began playing a waltz, and Larry Long and Sue Pope danced gracefully onto the stage. Wagging their tails in thorough enjoyment, the two glanced at each other, gave a nod of approval and continued to watch the brilliant show before them. The song ended, and Fido and Rover jumped to their feet to bark an encore, but thinking better of it, they headed for the door.

Fido and Rover many times returned to the building to hear this beautiful music and see the wonderful dances, but a dog is a dog, and it is quite a dangerous occupation to enter and leave someone's "humble abode" without asking their permission. So the "strays" began coming to the building at night. One spring night as the two romped playfully up to their "private entrance", they noticed that the auditorium was all "lit up".

Hearing the old familiar chords, the pair hurried quickly inside. Quietly they entered the auditorium, found them a spot in a dark corner, and settled themselves to listen. On the floor next to the couple, they noticed a piece of paper containing a list of names and what seemed to be a program. "I'm sure glad I'm an educated dog so I can read this," said Fido. "Do you know what this says?" "No," Rover replied. "Well," Fido excitedly explained, "this must be the dress rehearsal for the 'Time to Sing' program." Just as he was about to begin explaining further, the music began, and the observers stopped the discussion to listen.

The two sat entranced by the beauty of the music and were so overwhelmed that it was all that Rover could do to keep Fido from adding his lyric tenor voice to the choir. The program unfolded before their eyes, boys glee club, accompanied by Carol Carlberg; girls' glee club, accompanied by Elwyn Maddox; girls' chorus, accompanied by Diane Miller, and of course, the mixed chorus with Carol at the piano, two-hundred voices all under the direction of Miss Maurine Morrow.

As Rover glanced down the list of names, he saw several newly added seniors, J. W. Moore, Imo Copper, and Bill Hall. Turning their attention again to the stage, they heard the strains of "Tweedle-Dee", sung by Patsy Hathoot; "Young and Foolish", by Karen Crowley; "Hearts of Stone", by a trio, Marlene Cline, Barbara Anstead and Joyce Maupin; "Sisters", by Jerrie Pinkerton and Deanna Fisher; "Sincerely" by another trio, Pat Thayer, Linda Williams, and Allie Steers; songs by a girls' quartet, Jerrie Pinkerton, Ann White, Deanna Fisher, and Kay Ewing; a novelty dance to "Red Wing" by Alice Gundlach; a boys' quartet, Vance Peak, Bob Dundas, Elwyn Maddox, and James Landrum, all singing "hit" tunes for the portion "Stars on Parade".

The concluding number on the program was the crowning of the chorus queen, Bonnie Light by her attendant Ray Potter. Other attendants were: Deanna Fisher and Elwyn Maddox; Jerrie Pinkerton and Vance Peak; Karen Crowley and Melvin Warren; and Allie Steers and Marvin Warren.

The curtain closed, and the musical puppies sat too elated to talk. The people began clamoring out of the auditorium, and Rover and Fido were close behind. If you had been listening closely, you could have heard Rover say to Fido, "What a year! This will really be something to tell our grandpuppies."

The Night of January 16th

BY KAY DAILEY

Guilty or innocent? This was the question facing the audience of the All School Play, "Night of January 16th". Directing the play was Mrs. Delyte Poindexter.

One of the most unusual plays ever to be presented in Enid High School, the play was actually a trial with the jury selected from the audience. The witnesses, members of the cast, were seated in the audience.

The trial was a battle of wits between the two lawyers, Defense Attorney Stephens and District Attorney Flint. Flint, the methodical lawyer, basing his case on facts, was played exceptionally well by Bert Bucher. Stephens, played by Ben Harrison, basing his case on emotional appeal, was particularly outstanding.

Karen Andre, the defendant, an older woman, was a difficult part for a young girl, but a dramatically convincing performance was given by Karen Crowley.

"Court attention" with this statement from the bailiff, Paul Rempel, and the escorting of the defendant into the court by prison matron Ruth Baker, the play began. After Jerry Wilkins, court clerk, had called the jury and Judge Heath, Milton Andrews, had instructed the jurors in their duty, the trial proceeded. Kent Corey, court policeman, was on hand to see that all was done according to the law. The court secretary, Carolyn Muir, defense secretary, Linda Robbins, and district attorney's secretary Jane Carey, sharpened their pencils and prepared to record the trial. The Judge, clerk, prison matron, policeman, secretaries, and bailiff played their respective parts to credit any court officials.

On the night of January 16th, Bjorn Faulkner fell or was pushed from the roof of the Faulkner Building. As the witnesses were called, the following story unfolded.

"Faulkner could have died from the bullet wound or the fall," stated Dr. Kirkland, the slightly eccentric medical examiner, played very well by Ralph Myers.

Mrs. John Hutchens, wife of the night janitor in the Faulkner Building, timidly stated that she had seen Miss Andre, Mr. Faulkner, and two other gentlemen come into the building on the night of the murder, and later the two gentlemen had left about ten minutes apart. Suda Bobbitt gave an excellent characterization of the timid, nervous woman.

Homer Van Fleet, private detective, stated that he had been hired to follow Bjorn Faulkner, and had seen Karen Andre push Faulkner off the building. Ray Potter played the nonchalant private eye to match the indifference of any character out of Mickey Spillane.

Elmer Sweeney, the ambitious young rookie patrolman, was Vance Peak, portraying the enthusiasm and energy of any young man who is new on the job. He was assigned to investigate the murder, but gave forth no information, except about himself.

Janet Kindt efficiently characterized Jane Chandler, the police court secretary. Miss Chandler established the fact that Karen Andre could forge Faulkner's name almost perfectly.

In the role of Nancy Lee Faulkner, Eleanor Northrop portrayed the heart-broken widow to the extent of breaking down completely in her testimony. Nancy Lee told that Bjorn had reformed when he married her, and that he had discharged his secretary, and was trying to save his business.

Injecting a note of humor into the play, Magda Svenson, Swedish house maid played by Pat Sharp, kept the audience in hysterics during her testimony.

Karen Andre had another boyfriend, stated Miss Svenson, and he was one of the two gentlemen in the apartment the night of January 16th.

John Graham Whitfield, bank president, father of Nancy Faulkner, told the jury he believed that Faulkner's empire could have been saved—had he lived. Charles Lewis did the part of the brilliant financier extremely well.

In the role of the emotional Swede, Sigurd Jungquist, Bob Dundas injected humor and drama into the play, demonstrating real acting ability.

Jungquist stated that Faulkner said he would commit suicide if his business empire crashed. Jungquist also admitted he had served a term in prison.

Karen Andre's testimony was the high point of the trial. Telling how Faulkner had married Nancy only because of her money, she was interrupted by Larry Regan, the hard-boiled character of the underworld played excellently by Wade Chambers, who rushed into the courtroom to tell Karen Andre that Faulkner was dead.

When Karen again took the stand, she related an altered version of her first story.

Bjorn Faulkner deposited ten million dollars in a South American bank. Then, on the night of January 16th, Larry Regan brought the dead body to Miss Andre's apartment. Regan and Faulkner then left—after giving Faulkner enough time to reach the airport—Karen Andre pushed the dead body off the building.

Larry Regan then took the stand to tell the part of the story Karen did not know. When Regan had reached the airfield, he had found the plane gone. He had waited in the back seat of a black sedan parked there until the owner came back. Regan produced a check the man had given him. The check was signed by John Graham Whitfield.

Upon cross questioning, Regan admitted he loved Karen Andre—she loved Faulkner—that was their only proof.

As the last witness, Roberta Van Rensselaer, the wife of the deceased Lefty O'Toole, drew the attention for which she was dressed, from the audience as she took and left the witness stand. Norma Thompson played the part of the "moll" of a gang of crooks exceedingly well.

As the jury filed off the stage to come to a verdict, the members of the audience were heard trying to arrive at their decision.

Two different endings were learned for the play—to agree with the verdict brought in by the jury.

On the night of November 16th, in the Education Building, Karen Andre was found guilty of the murder of Bjorn Faulkner, ending one of the most unusual plays in the history of EHS.

Students assisting in the play were: Student directors — John Rempel, Ann Hayes; Prompters, Allie Steers, Judy Goucher; Stand Ins, Rosetta Hoyle, Sandy Barris, Gale Webb, Kent Corey, Ann Hayes; Electricians, Tommy Thomason, Montie Jones, Leslie Tennant; Stage, Mike Austin, John Engle, Paul Ruth, Edwin Eck, Harold Buller, Roland Teemley; Properties, Ruth Baker, Carolyn

"June Graduate"

BY BARBARA WILKINS AND ROXY ANN LEWEY

The three-act comedy-drama "June Graduate" by Jean Provenge was presented Tuesday, May 10, by the senior class under the direction of Mrs. Delyte Poindexter.

This is the believable, the always intensely gripping story of a boy who loses himself—and almost his whole future at one of the most important crossroads of his life. There is some sadness, yes. But the tear-touched moments are delightfully mingled with the irrepressible, exultant laughter of Youth embarked on a Great Adventure.

It's graduate night when Bob Gardner, Melvin Semrad, gets the "jolt"! His widowed mother, Janet Kindt, tells him the money his father left isn't enough to send him to college; and Bob—class president, football captain, idol of the school and "Mr. Big" himself—just can't "Take It". Rather than face his friends and the prospect of going through college as a "little guy", he suddenly, in an unhappy moment of self-pity and frustration, becomes engaged to Agnes Wagner, Pat Phillips, a pretty (and scheming) senior girl.

Everyone is surprised and stunned. Irene Davis, Jerrie Pinkerton, the girl who's always loved him, tries to persuade Bob to work his way through college, despite his engagement. Bob's other friends—aided by a college fraternity man—try to line up an athletic scholarship for him; but Bob, who's never worried about assignments and tests, finds that his grades are too low.

Disconsolate, Bob gets himself a tiring, back-breaking, and decidedly unglamorous job of pushing a wheelbarrow on a cement gang. The money is good, but the prospect of doing this as a life's work gives him some pause for sober thought. Maybe with $400 he has already deposited in a joint bank account with Agnes—plus what he'll be able to earn washing dishes at the frat house—he'd better enroll at the university in September, after all. But Agnes has other ideas! In a weak moment, she draws the $400 from the account and makes a down payment on a thousand-dollar engagement ring!

Bob, though incensed and disappointed, continues to plod wearily away at his job, meeting the payments on the ring, his dreams of State U. growing dimmer and dimmer. And when at last—in the waning days of summer and the twilight of his hopes—the others are leaving for college, he catches a plimpse of the barren, humdrum future in store for himself — unless he is willing to wrestle the realities and win! The issues are recognizable close-to-home

"We Were Young That Year"

BY MARY BETH DONNELL

Ann White enthralled the audience with her portrayal of Nancy, a wistful young girl of sixteen in the play. "We Were Young That Year," presented by the junior class, and directed by Mrs. Delyte Poindexter.

In the play Nancy recalls the things that made her summer so wonderful. Andy, a handsome young athlete, played by Bob Dundas, was the main factor in making the summer so enjoyable.

The others who helped make her summer so exciting were Ernie and Joe played by "the class comic," Gregg Bond, and everybody's pal, Joe Hume. They were always cracking stories out of their handy joke book.

Betsy, who was always trying to get a laugh, was Cinda Siler who characterized the part extremely well.

Charlene Hicks and Ray Asfahl

played the parts of Prudy and Steve, who were engaged. Dick Scarritt did an excellent job in the part of Larry, a sophisticated college man, who is very interested in Marsha, a beautiful and glamorous girl of eighteen, played by Sally Bonham. Kathaleen Jones did a good job with the part of Aunt Sally, a fluttery old maid and bird fancier. Nine-year-old Patsy and Dunnie played by Karen Smith and David Fisher, caused quite a stir with their space helmets and games of cowboys and Indians. Sandy Barris made a perfect Carol, the pretty, eager-to-please girl of seventeen.

Hudson and Jack were portrayed by David Miller and Gail Crawford. Elsie and Leona were Mary Edith Taylor and Elaine Palecek. A girls' quartet was made up of Barbara Hock, Charlise Gustin, Vonna Morris and Kay Ewing.

Off stage during a movie scene, came the voices of Ralph Meyers and Cynthia Grow in the parts of a man and woman in a melodramatic English movie. Virginia Merritt was a woman in the movie audience who frowned all through the show. Dana Rahm and Rose Etta Durbin were in charge of the background music.

During the box supper, where Nancy first came in contact with Andy, the voice of Max Jones could be heard auctioning off the boxes.

The summer was gone for Nancy, but the memory would be there forever—the little things that mean so much, the smell of his hair tonic, the touch of his hand, things always to be remembered.

As the curtain was drawn on the final act, the audience was captivated by the sweet story of a young girl's

"Room For One More"

BY KAREN CROWLEY

"It was one of the tenderest, most human plays—a play overflowing with love and laughter—a play so close to the heart that smiles and tears were intermingled." This was the reaction of the audience witnessing the first Thespian play ever presented in the history of Enid High School.

"Room For One More", a full-length comedy by William Davidson under the direction of Mrs. Delyte Poindexter, was performed in the new auditorium, Friday, March 25.

No matter how hard it was to make ends meet in the Pumpkin Shell, their tiny summer cottage by the ocean, the Rose family always found "Room For One More."

Marilyn Giles did a fine job portraying her character of Mother, whose heart was big enough for all children. Charles Lewis, who took the part of Poppy, is to be commended on his performance of a man who could never turn down any child from his household. Derel Schrock should be congratulated on his outstanding portrayal of Jimmy John, one of those rare roles that the audience took to their hearts. No one could have done a better job in the role of Joey, who wanted to become a doctor more than anything else, than Walt Bowart did. Another Sophomore, Glenda Braithwaite, did herself proud in her part of Janey, who finally learned to belong. No one will forget Kay Dailey acting her unforgettable character of Teensie, who loved to collect all kinds of things from snakes to turtles. Miss Winston (Carolyn Lacy), Trot Rose (Lillie Regier), Mrs. Biddle (Paula Paine), George Biddle (Bob Holcomb), and Rescued Woman (Kay Mason) also should be proud for excellent jobs as supporting actors and actresses.

In the Rose family, it was often hard to tell their own children from the stranger they took under their wing. Janey, however, their latest acquisition, was somewhat of a problem. They had promised the Home to keep her for two weeks, and the day she was to return she still acted like a stranger. Then Miss Winston, from the Home, arrived a day earlier to take Janey back with her. Since Janey rebelled, the rest of the children took a vote and decided that she could stay. They had no sooner shifted the sleeping quarters around to make room for her, when Jimmy John was taken into the ever-growing family. Then in the midst of their hectic but happy existence, tragedy struck when Poppy died of a heart attack. Mother's adopted family pitched in to keep the Pumpkin Shell going. It wasn't easy, for Joey was starting his first year at medical school, and Mother's rejection slips from her writing came in with alarming regularity. When Joey realized how tough things were for the family, he decided to give up medical school and accepted a job. Mother, however, put her foot down on the idea. Meanwhile Jimmy John made remarkable improvements and was enabled to walk with hardly a trace of a limp. Finally, Mother decided that the only solution to their financial problems was to sell the Pumpkin Shell. But fortune, like a sudden burst of sunshine, smiled upon the Rose family, and all ended well in a tender and heartwarming conclusion of a rare and memorable summer.

In every play there are people behind the scenes without whose help the play could never be produced. "Room For One More" was no exception. Ray Potter and Norma Thompson were student directors; John Rempel, technical director; Ann White and Eleanor Northrop, prompters; Larry Long, Lucy Hope, Rosemary Jurgins, Mary Helen Bogert and Dick Scarritt, stage furnishing crew; John Engle and Tommy Thomason, electricians; Ronald Teemley and David Russell, stagecrew; Sue Matlack, Frances McManemin, Kay Moxley, Danny Duggan, Tom Sailors, property committee; Virginia Merritt, Dick Scarritt, Charlene Hicks, and Janet Jones, costumes committee; Pat Brogdon, Cinda Siler, Elaine Palecek, Janice Murie, and Jody Dozier, make-up committee; Pat-Phillips, publicity; John Rempel, posters.

Usherettes and ushers for the evening were the following: Karen Crowley, Camilla Woods, Jerrie Pinkerton, Mary Helen Callas, Pat Sharp, Janet Dage, Nancy Earnest, Ann Hayes, Janet Kindt, and Letty Goltry.

Milton Andrews, Kent Corey, Jerry Wilkins, Paul Rempel, Bob Dundas, Wade Chambers, Ray Asfahl, Jimmy Sampson, and Brian Hinson.

Immediately following the play, fun was had by all at the Thespian party at the home of John and Paul Rempel.

first love and her most wonderful summer of all.

The student directors were Pat Sharp and David Russell. Miss Ruth Scott was in charge of publicity and Miss Katherine Bales took care of the art. Mrs. Nelle McCreary was the business manager. Mr. Gerald Hemphill and Miss Maurine Morrow helped with the instrumental and vocal music.

The important job of prompting was done by Jean Pearson and Carolyn Albright. Stand-ins were Nancy Earnest and Bob Holcomb. Ronnie Teemley and Kenneth Bull were stage managers, and Lillie Regier was in charge of sound effects. The electricians were Tommy Thomason and Leslie Tennant.

The numerous properties were taken care of by Kay Kaufman, Ann Hayes, Mary Helen Bogert, Bob Atkinson, Bill Anderson, and Dorothy Lansden. Nancy Earnest, Dorothy Purnell, Bob Holcomb and Ken Richardson were in charge of costumes. Marilyn Giles, Norma Thompson, Rose Etta Durbin, Elaine White, and Delores Smith were on the make-up committee.

Kay Meibergen and Leslie Tennant worked on publicity.

Pat Driever, Bob Warren, Judy Lang, Willa Jean Cook, and Barbara Latta made posters.

The junior play was one of the first Enid High School plays to have both Ushers and Usherettes. They were: Floyd Skarky, Steve McKeever, Dick Autry, Bill Francis, H. L. Crites, Don Russell, Bruce Torbett, Todd Dixon, Grady King, Carol Franks, Merlene Duckworth, Maurine Fest, Billie Bushnell, Pat Hayes, Judy Lang, Kay Watson, Rosemary Killam, and Myrna Born.

Because of the complete co-operation of all these people this year's junior play was a roaring success. "Hats off to the juniors!"

Touchdown Tallies

BY BUDDY CHAMPLIN and JIM STURDIVANT

The 1954 Enid Plainsmen football season featured hard luck throughout the campaign for the Warriors from West Wabash. The Plainsmen, who were ably coached by Charlie Paine and Jimmy Keeton, had four victories while losing to six decisively heavier elevens.

A light, but scrappy and speedy team, played a determined brand of football throughout the season. The Enid line was outweighed 10 pounds per man in almost every tilt in their rugged schedule.

Enid's pony backfield was called by many sports scribes one of the finest in the state. The speed of halfback Johnny Pellow and Donnie Weldon, the power of fullback "Bronco" Bob Davis, and the masterful ball trickery of senior quarterback Terry Ingram, rolled up an unbelievable total of 1,548 yards rushing.

The first game of the season inaugurated a new stadium with a seating capacity of 5,500. An impressive 28-6 Enid victory over the fighting Garber Wolverines gave the rest of the schedule a more optimistic outlook. Pellow scored twice in the encounter with Weldon and Davis each tallying once. Guard Ray "Golden Toe" Downs booted four perfect conversions. Late in the game, with the Plainsmen reserved on the field, Garber fullback Curt Hickie punched over from the three-yard line for the lone Garber tally of the evening.

The next week against Stillwater, Johnny Pellow had a field day in the 28-7 rout of the hapless Pioneers. Pellow ran for three touchdowns and passed for a fourth. The outstanding play of the game was Pellow's brilliant 67 yard punt return in which he completely reversed his field and outran a host of pursuing Pioneers.

The undefeated Plainsmen then invaded Owen Stadium in Norman where they were handed by the fired-up Tigers a 27-0 deficit in the first half. The Plainsmen fought gallantly back in the second half before losing 34-27. Norman's great halfback, Wilson Wilhite, scored three touchdowns in the first half, for the boys from Sooner town. Pellow continued his scoring spree by taking two perfect tosses from Terry Ingram and racing 29 and 55 yards into the royal soil of the end zone. Davis went 52 yards in a third quarter touchdown thriller, and Ingram nosed over from the one yard line to account for the Enid scoring.

The vengeful Plainsmen journeyed to Shawnee to pound out a 24-12 triumph in drizzling weather which made it almost impossible for either team to pass. Enid's ground game made up for what it couldn't do in the air, with Ingram and Pellow each scoring twice. Following this win the Plainsmen were vaulted into the eighth spot in state prep ratings.

Enid chalked up its fourth win of the season against the visiting Central Cardinals with halfback Donnie Weldon running wild in the 26-7 victory. The Cardinal defenses had their sights set for Pellow and left "Dazzling" Donnie Weldon wide open, as he scampered seven yards in the second quarter for the first Plainsmen tally. He returned the second half kickoff 85 yards to further baffle the Cardinals. Then, linebacker John Marler intercepted a Central pass, and raced 55 yards untouched by Cardinal tacklers. Fullback Davis cracked over from the one yard line for the other Plainsmen score.

The Capitol Hill Redskins, perennial powerhouse of the Mid-State Conference, proved to have too much depth in the forward wall for the Plainsmen, as they dumped Enid 26-7. Halfbacks Bobby Jobe, Carl Slayton, and end Bill McNutt, making All Mid-State honors, scored for the Skins in the first half to set the Plainsmen back 19-0 at the half. Weldon put the Plainsmen back into the ball game with a 7 yard sprint in the third period. The injuries suffered in this tilt were a prime factor in the losing landslide of the Plainsmen which began with this game. Center Bill Lang, halfback Pellow, and fullback Davis suffered injuries in the contest with the Hillmen.

With All-State quarterback, Roy Boring, leading the way, the Ponca City Wildcats put on a fantastic exhibition of ball handling while downing the Big Blue 28-14. Boring scored twice and kicked one field goal. The two Boring tallies came after he had pitched to fullback Jackie Rein, who then flipped the pigskin back to Boring at the last second before going down. Halfback Dick Wilson scored twice in the game, once on a play which saw the ball change hands three times. Boring lateraled to Rein, who then returned the ball to Boring who proceeded then to give the ball to Wilson, who crossed the double stripe. John Pellow was the whole show offensively, for the Plainsmen, as he ran 38 yards for one touchdown and passed 22 yards to H. L. Crites for the other.

The Blues played their best defensive ball game of the year against the Classen Comets, but it was all in vain, due to losing 11 to 13 fumbles as the Comets raced to a 19-6 victory. All three Classen touchdowns came after the Comets fell on Enid fumbles inside the Plainsmen 20 yard marker. Pellow scored Enid's touchdown in the fourth stanza with an electrifying 38 yard end run. The Enid defense showed up well in this game with Bobby Atkinson, Steve Meitler, John Marler, Keith Roberts, Charles Bailey and John Pounds looking exceptional in the fray.

It was too much of Ronnie Jones for the homestanding Plainsmen, as they were upset by the rampaging Lawton Wolverines 34-13. Lawton, who was given the pre-season nod to capture the state crown, came into the game as a six point underdog, but emerged highly successful. The greasy-hipped Jones ran circles around the Plainsmen all night, rolling up 183 yards rushing. Jones was heralded as one of the finest halfbacks ever to plant his cleats in Plainsmen soil. In the first quarter of play, Pellow passed to Crites who raced 86 yards, outrunning six Wolverines on his

Maplemen Score In '55

BY JIM STURDIVANT

Coach Paul Geymann's basketball team was victorious in 15 of their 26 starts in the 1954-55 cage season, and wound up in fourth place in the rugged Mid-State conference race. The Plainsmen were staggered by a disastrous start, but rallied late in the season to survive with a winning record.

Of the top eight teams in the state, the Mid-State placed four teams. The Norman Tigers, who finished in a second place tie with the Capitol Hill Redskins behind the champion Classen Comets, went on to win the state crown, after Capitol Hill knocked Classen out of contention in the regional tournament.

In their second meeting with the Tigers, the Plainsmen hammered out an impressive 63-59 decision in Convention Hall. Center Floyd Skarky led the Plainsmen in scoring with 16 points, Ronnie Wedel chipped in with 12, as did Ronnie Feger.

The redheaded Wedel scored 371 points over the course of the season to lead all Plainsmen in that department and wind up the season with a 14.2 scoring average. His terrific season as a senior was climaxed with his being named as a first team member of both the Daily Oklahoman All-State team and the All Mid-State team. His vicious rebounding and alert defensive play made permanent impressions in the minds of opposing coaches and players.

Junior center Floyd Skarky, who stands 6-4, was the other half of Enid's prolific scoring duo. Skarky

Golf

BY LARRY LONG

Eleven golf hopefuls strolled onto the links at Meadowlake Golf Course March 14 to officially open the 1955 golf season for Enid High School. The golfers, under the direction of Coach Paul Geymann, possessed hopes of bettering last year's excellent score of 6 wins to 3 losses in regular play.

When the dust had cleared from a few practice matches, Charles Swartz, Jimmy Wright, Ed Bullard, Earl West, James Gammon, David Sneary, Charles Gasaway, George Ragan, Phil Pratz, Ralph Rogers, and Ronald Stewart had made the team. Charles Swartz was the only returning letterman.

After much eager anticipation, the team met their first foe, Phillips University, at Meadowlake on March 17. Starting the season with flying colors, the locals romped over Phillips by the score of  $8\frac{1}{2}$  to  $3\frac{1}{2}$ . Charles Swartz emerged low stroker.

March 25 found the confident EHS golfers at Stillwater. The local linksters returned home with their second straight victory. The score: 7 to 5. Charles Swartz again came out with the lowest score.

Battling a stiff March wind on March 31 at Ponca City, the hometown boys suffered their first defeat in three starts. The score: 6 to 9.

April 4 saw the locals defeat visitors from Stillwater for the second straight time,  $7\frac{1}{2}$  to  $4\frac{1}{2}$ . Charles Swartz, a continual standout on the team, again marched out with the low tally.

On April 7, at the Oakwood Golf and Country Club course, the EHS lads, led by Charles Swartz, Earl West, James "Pug" Gammon, and Jimmy Wright, proceeded to bury a Mid-State foe, Oklahoma City Central, by the one-sided score of  $13\frac{1}{2}$  to  $4\frac{1}{2}$ .

On April 11, journeying to Blackwell, locals continued their winning ways by defeating their hosts 10 to 2. Outstanding play was turned in by all members of the team.

The Enid High School squad defeated Ponca City in their second meeting on April 14. The match at Oakwood saw the locals come out on top with the score reading:  $11\frac{1}{2}$  to  $6\frac{1}{2}$ .

The usual schedule of play was high-lighted by the Mid-State Conference Tourney at the Oakwood course. The defending champion, O.C. Classen, advanced as the top team. Classen was closely pressed by second place Enid. Jim Gardner of Classen emerged as medalist with a total of 150 strokes for 36 holes.

On April 21, the local linksters experienced their second defeat. O.C. Central, avenging an earlier Enid victory, defeated the locals at the Lincoln Park course. The score:  $13\frac{1}{2}$  to  $14\frac{1}{2}$ .

Coach Geymann's crew traveled to the Oklahoma City Country Club April 19th to meet the challenge of Casady High School. The EHS boys, defying all opponents, made fairly easy go of Casady High. The score: 11 to 7.

When your reporter was asked to hand in his account of the 1955 golf story, the local lads had three more matches to play. On April 25, they met Blackwell at Meadowlake. They played in the state meet at O.C. Lincoln Park April 27 and 28. Their final match was with O.C. Casady High at Oakwood.

The golf team had played an outstanding season so far with seven wins and two losses. But by continuing the excellent play, the boys were sure to finish the season with flying laurels.

Baseball

BY BOB DAVIS

Starting off the 1955 baseball season, the Enid Plainsmen journeyed to Tonkawa to play the Tonkawa Junior College in a practice game on March 10. Bobby Atkinson, promising sophomore hurler, started for the "blue and white" and did a fine job, giving up only two hits and no runs in the three innings he pitched. Atkinson was followed by Robert Conklin, Ronald LaPorte, and sophomore Bob Holmes, all of whom did good jobs, while E. H. S. went on to defeat Tonkawa 16-4. Backing up the four hurlers was an experienced ball club with six returning lettermen, Terry Ingram, Don Weldon, Bob Davis, Robert Conklin, Ronald LaPorte, and Walter Spaid.

Next, the Plainsmen took on the Garber Wolverines and set them down by a 15-7 count with Atkinson again starting and followed by LaPorte and Holmes. E. H. S. got 11 hits.

On March 23, the Plainsmen traveled to Garber for a return game. This time, with Atkinson and Conklin pitching, the team was defeated 4-2, collecting six scattered hits off Bob Adams, Garber's ace.

Moving into their first conference game with a record of two wins and one loss, Coach Provost's boys played Capitol Hill on March 24. Bob Holmes, the sophomore left-hander was picked to start the game. Holmes, in his first starting assignment, did a creditable job in holding Capitol Hill to a close 3-2 victory. The Plainsmen could manage only three hits off the Redskin hurler, while Capitol Hill got only five off Holmes. Hurting the Plainsmen most were costly errors in the seventh inning which enabled Capitol Hill to score the tie-breaking runs that won the game.

Evening their conference record on March 28, the Plainsmen nine defeated Classen 4-3 behind Bob Atkinson who gave up three runs in the first inning, but settled down to shut out the Comets the rest of the way. Steve Meitler led the five-hit attack with a solid double to left field and two line drives to the outfield. Enid fought gamely to come from behind, scoring two runs in the last half of the first inning, with single runs in the fourth and fifth to assure the victory for Atkinson.

On March 29, E.H.S. played the Alva Goldbugs at Alva. Unleashing a 16 hit barrage, the Plainsmen scored 17 runs while Alva could score only four times against LaPorte and Gail Crawford. Gary Bloom connected for a home run and Donald Weldon got two doubles to furnish power for the Enid high team. In the big second inning the whole team scored before there was an out made, and scored 11 runs before the inning was over. Semrad and Spaid each got three singles in the five inning game.

The Shawnee Wolves came to Enid on March 31 to play the Plainsmen nine in a double-header. On a muddy field, Enid high defeated Shawnee in the first game 5-2 with Robert Conklin starting and relieved by sophomore Jerry Keeling, who pitched a two hit game for six innings. The team got five runs on five hits and committed no errors in the seven inning contest.

In the second game, Enid put out a nine hit effort to back up Bob Holmes' one hit pitching performance. Holmes struck out five of the first six men he faced. Semrad and Ingram raised their batting averages by getting three hits each. Davis and Spaid each hit doubles to help Holmes earn his first win in conference play.

On the next evening the team again journeyed to Garber to challenge the Wolverines. Scoring single runs in Donnie Weldon and Ronnie Wedel tied for first place in the high jump, both leaping 6 feet 3 inches and breaking the meet record. Weldon placed second in the pole vault and third in the broad jump, followed by Terry Ingram who was fourth in

"Under The Big Top"

BY EMAGENE JENKINS

"La--dees and gentlemen, we now present the fifth annual water show, 'Under the Big Top.' Hurry and grab your seats for the greatest show on earth."

With these words Ringmaster Judy Grove introduced the first act of the water show circus held on the nights of March 21 and 22. The "Entree" was directed by Emagene Jenkins and Carol Cashion. All of the Aquaettes participated in one of the splashiest acts of the show.

No circus is complete without a band! So, to the stirring John Philip Sousa march, "Stars and Stripes Forever," the Aquaette circus band marched in under the direction of Deanna Spickelmier. The drum major was Emagene Jenkins, and the band members were: Jerrie Pinkerton, Jo Ann Templeman, Jo Albright, Merlene Duckworth, Deanna Spickelmier, Linda Robbins, Gerri Link, Janet Wever, and Kay Kaufman.

One of the most graceful features of any circus is the aerialists. Carolyn Walters and Shirley Smith in a breath-taking performance demonstrated the skill and precision it takes to be one of these performers.

Come to the Side Show to see the freaks! They're the best ever; you'll remember them for weeks. Some of these strange looking creatures were Nannie, the fat lady, Nancy Earnest; Emey, the two-headed lady, Emagene Jenkins; Jane Carey and Janet Wever, the jugglers; Terry Torbett, the beared woman; and the donkey girl, Marilyn Bell. This act was written by Carolyn Walters and Shirley Smith.

With much skill and agility, the acrobatic act, under the direction of Jo Ellen Barnes and Terry Torbett, went through a series of somersaults, surface dives, ballet legs, and twists and turns to illustrate the ease of the circus gymnasts. The circus magician was Virginia Merritt, and the other acrobats were Jane Johnstone, Ann Hayes, Jane Carey, Suda Bobbitt, Rose Etta Durbin, and Carol Cashion.

Now, we venture into the land of make-believe where things go amiss, but all ends in bliss. Everyone knows the story of Snow White, and in keeping with the story, the seven dwarfs portrayed the contentment in Snow White's life. Those dressed up as the little men were: Kay Kaufman, Dopey; Carol Cashion, Happy; Jerrie Pinkerton, Sneezy; Rose Etta Durbin, Doc; Gerri Link, Sleepy; Jo Albright, Bashful, and Merlene Duckworth, Grumpy. Of course, before good comes, there is always some bad; and the bad in the princess's life was her mean old stepmother, the witch. Feeding Snow White the poison apple was Kay Meibergen as the witch. However, as said before, all ends in bliss; and Snow White and Prince Charming do live happily ever after. Prince Charming was swum by Ann Hayes, while Snow White was Emagene Jenkins. Jane Carey and Jo Ann Templeman were directors of this fairy tale.

An added attraction at any big top is the clowns. Merlene Duckworth and Nancy Earnest, dressed up in polka-dotted suits, rolled out giving a splashy, fun-filled performance.

The trained animals came next on the agenda. Beautiful white prancers with red bridles and braided tails performed in grand style under the whip of their trainer, Jo Ann Templeman. The horses were Carolyn Walters, Suda Bobbitt, Jane Johnstone, and Virginia Merritt.

The waltzing cat appeared next in the center ring for the animal act. Nancy Earnest did the honors.

Amid a series of barks, and yelps, the dogs trotted out to go through their routine which ended with a jump through a hoop. The four panting pups were Jerrie Pinkerton, Jo Ellen Barnes, Marilyn Bell, and Shirley Smith.

The animal act was under the direction of Nancy Earnest and Kay Meibergen.

Slipping gracefully into the water among the swaying palms and soft music were Ann Hayes, Linda Robbins, Shirley Smith, Nancy Earnest, Kay Meibergen, Jo Ellen Barnes, Deanna Spickelmier, and Carolyn Walters as the hula girls. A solo done by Terry Torbett completed the beautiful picture. Ginnie Geis and Ann Hayes were the directors of this act.

The grand finale of the water show was the crowning of the Aquaette Queen. This year the queen was Miss Carol Cashion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Cashion. Her attendants were Miss Jo Ellen Barnes and Miss Emagene Jenkins. After the introduction of the candidates for queen, who were the senior members of the Aquaettes, the two attendants swam a duet in her honor. Queen Carol got on her royal float after being crowned by the student council president, Larry Long. The float in the shape of a carousel was moved by the candidates.

So ended another evening of fun at the circus!

The Aquaette officers this year were: president, Emagene Jenkins; secretary, Terry Torbett; Treasurer, Deanna Spickelmier; program chairman, Jo Ellen Barnes; and historian, Jo Ann Templeman. The sponsor of the Aquaettes was Miss Pat Armould.

Girls' Intramurals

BY JUDY GROVE

Three thirty-six marks the end of the day in almost every part of Enid High School except in the gym. In the gym, activity goes on until 4:30, because it is in this hour that class work is made up, and also all intramural work is done after school. Every girl, whether she is enrolled in physical education or not, can enter the intramural tournaments which are sponsored by the Girls' Recreation Association.

The first intramural tournament was a volley ball tournament. The winning team was the Redskins composed of Katy Bunnell, Mary Pace, Sharon Kellet, Christina Welch, Deanna Fisher, Donnis Oakley, Mildred Buschmeyer, Pat Jones and Judy Grove.

During January, girls from the swimming and physical education classes ventured to Classen High School in Oklahoma City to attend a play-day. Both schools participated in individual sports and swimming contests.

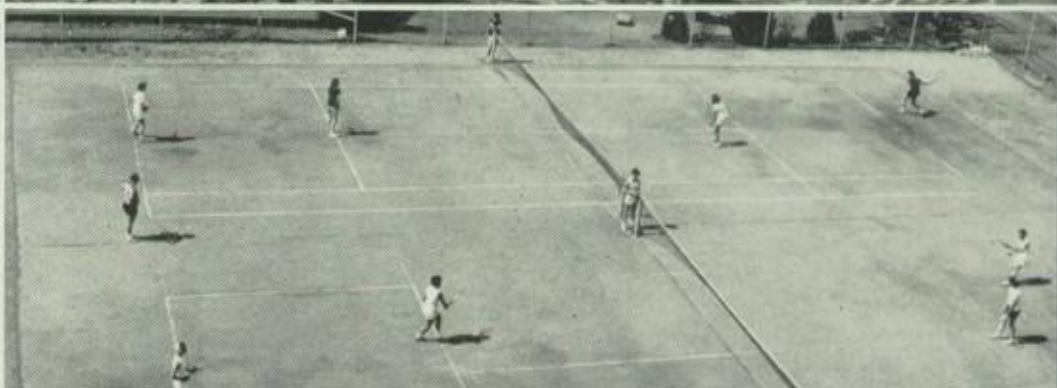

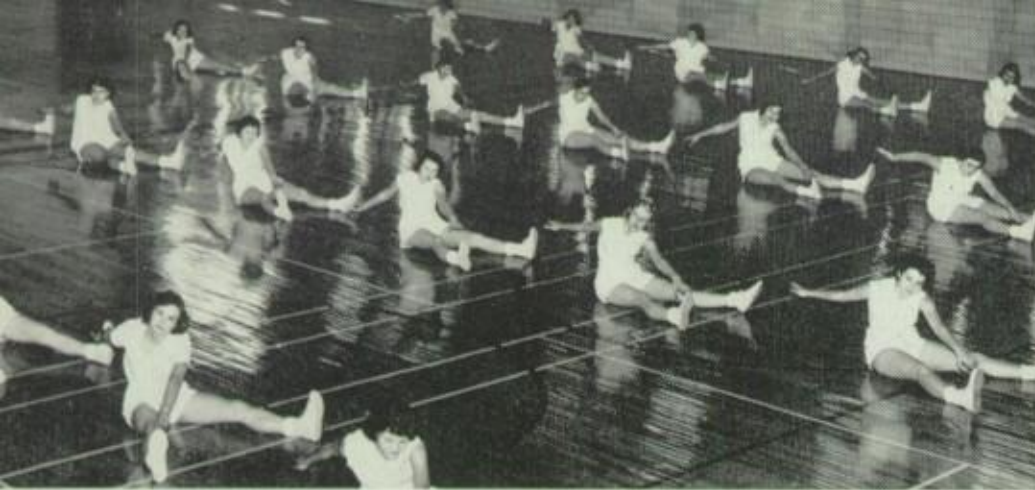

The first place medals in the basketball tournament also went to the Redskins. Second place medals were handed to Janice Teale's team which included Pat Danahy, Gretchen Fields, Judy Williams, Shirley Lebow, Karen Ludwig, Gerri Link, and Lorraine Koozer.

In March, 12 girls from the swimming classes went to Norman for a state swimming meet. In the synchronized events Nancy Earnest was second with a solo. In the duet division were: 3—Ann Hayes and Kay Meibergen; 4—Linda Robbins and Terry Torbett; 5—Ginny Geis, Ann Hayes, Kay Meibergen and Nancy Earnest won first. Carol Cashion, Jo Ellen Barnes, Jerrie Pinkerton and Virginia Merritt took third place honors.

"Once In A Springtime"

BY CHERREL NALL

The long awaited May season has now dawned, and the air is filled with happiness and admiration as the 31st Annual May Fete begins, featuring the Class of '55 preceded by the lovely Queen of May and the handsome May Herald.

In a beautiful spring evening Government Springs Park sets the scene with the dignity of the arched bridge, the colorful waterfall, and momentarily a procession of flowing formals, surrounding the reflecting lake.

As the strains of Hail, Enid High School drift out into the distance, the Queen of May, Mary Beth Donnell, and Herald, James Gammon, appear followed by their court of attendants and escorts. Allie Steers, dressed in foamy green is escorted by Larry Long; Jeanee Collier in luscious lavender with Phil Jones; Jane Carey in ice blue and escorted by Owen Wilson; Carole Shelp in frothy turquoise with Bill Athey; Emagene Jenkins in canary yellow is escorted by John Pellow; Cherrel Nall dressed in pastel pink walking with Ronnie Wedel; Pat Dennis, wearing candy pink, escorted by Bob Davis, and Bonnie Light, wearing delicate orchid, and her escort, Melvin Semrad.

Coming next are the royal subjects of the Queen and Herald.

While ascending the throne a fanfare of trumpets play, and Mary Beth is then presented with a crown of red roses and the traditional kiss from James.

As the royal party is seated, a beautiful festival pageant of May Poles are wound by dancers paying tribute to the party, as the chorus along with the band, add their splendor to spring.

Nature, as well as Enid High, has now contributed its beauty to the never-to-be-forgotten springtime.

The evening descends, and the Queen and Herald lead the grand party away from the park to the Legion Hall where they are greeted in the large overflowing room by the graduates of '55.

The May Fete Dance readily begins but too ends, and again comes to close the event so dear in the hearts and music of each senior in the Class of '55.

Let 'Er Rip

BY DEANNA SPICKELMIER

Let 'er rip
Let 'er roar
Let 'er go once more
Enid High School o'er and o'er
ENID! ENID! ENID!

Let 'er Rip is the traditional E.H.S. yell. At each game the Bravettes could be heard yelling it in support of their team.

This year the Bravettes attended all the games from football to basketball to baseball.

The Bravettes took buses to three out of town games. The first out of town trip which was taken was to Norman, the second trip was to Classen for a basketball game, and the third trip was taken to Ponca City for a baseball game.

During the half-time of the Enid-Stillwater football game the club collected $304 for the Oklahoma Medical Research Fund by passing containers through the audience. This was the largest amount collected in the state in this manner.

At one assembly the girls sold "Beat Lawton" tags to arouse interest in the Enid-Lawton football game being played that night.

For the crowning of Judy Grove as Football Queen by Terry Ingram, co-captain, the Bravettes formed a pennant with the band forming JUDY and playing Hail Enid High School as Judy was driven onto the field with her attendants, Carol Cashion and Phyllis Huffman. Judy was presented a bouquet of roses and a sweater with a big "E" on it.

Phyllis Huffman, Basketball Queen, was crowned by Ronnie Wedel. The Bravettes formed an aisle to the archway covered with flowers. The band played "Because of You" as the attendants, Cherrel Nall and Carol Cashion, walked out with their escorts. The Bravettes then knelt and sang "Mr. Sandman, Bring Us a Queen." As Phyllis was escorted onto the floor by Larry Long, the band played "Stairway to the Stars." Following the traditional kiss Jerrie Pinkerton sang "Sweet and Lovely" in honor of Phyllis.

Carole Shelp was crowned Spring Sports Queen by Bill Athey between the first and second game of a doubleheader with Shawnee. Charles Ranck, representing the swimming team, and Bob Davis, representing the baseball team escorted the attendants, Jeanee Collier and Jo Ellen Barnes, onto the field.

The club presented one assembly this year during basketball season. Members of Bravettes sang a pep song and did a dance to "There's No Business Like Show Business." The Capitol Hill team was characterized and sung about in a song entitled "This Ole Team". Junior girls dressed as elves, portrayed each of the team members. The assembly was highlighted by an original "can can" dance by the members of the "A" basketball squad.

The Bravette officers for 1954-1955 were: Deanna Spickelmier, president; Jerrie Pinkerton, vice-president; Cherrel Nall, secretary; and Carolyn Walters, treasurer.

The cheerleaders were the "greatest." They wrote many new yells and sparked the Bravettes all the way. Cheerleaders were: Jo Ellen Barnes, head cheerleader; Carol Cashion, Pat Phillips, Linda Robbins, Sandra Caldwell, and Sandra Barris. Alternate cheerleaders were Ann Hayes and Patsy Hathoot.

Boys' Intramurals

BY JOHN PELLOW

Intramural sports this year included only individual participation in ping pong, tennis, and swimming. Paul Geymann, athletic director, was head of the games.

Sixty-four entries participated in the ping pong tournament, the largest number ever to take part in this particular event. The seven players advancing to the round robin stage were Phil Jones, John Rempel, David Sneary, Charles Gasaway, Milton Andrews, Ray Downs, and John Pellow.

Intramural swimming which included diving and short races was held April 19 and 20. Boys entering were: Claude Jones, Bob Holcomb, Steve Meitler, Imo Cooper, Bruce Torbett, and Jerry Gearheard.

The last boys' intramural games to be held were the tennis matches, with Larry Long, Jim Sturdivant, John and Paul Rempel, Bob Holcomb, and Ray Downs playing.

The purpose of intramural sports in EHS is to allow more students to participate in sports.

Bon Voyage for Speech

by

BY KENT COREY AND BEN HARRISON

The good ship E.H.S. Speech Department was launched November 4 as 29 bright eyed speechsters began the voyage to Norman for their first contest of the 1954-55 season.

These eager hopefuls reached their destination with great expectations of the day's activities. Of the nineteen students entering into interscholastic competition, nine received superior ratings and ten received excellent.

Of the two debate teams composed of Margaret Luhr and Kent Corey, and Bob Murray and Paul Rempel, both were rated superior. In girls extemp, Pat Phillips, superior, Kay Dailey, excellent. In boys extemp, Tommy Thomason and Ray Asfahl both rated excellent. Dramatic reading, Rosetta Hoyle, superior, Dan Durham and Mary Helen Callas, excellent. Humorous reading, Sandy Barris, superior, Suda Bobbitt, excellent. Standard oratory, Bob Murray, excellent. Original oratory, Melvin Semrad, excellent, Bert Bucher, superior, Judy Grove, excellent, Ben Harrison, superior. Poetry, Karen Crowley, superior. Radio, Jerrie Pinkerton, superior, Bert Bucher, superior, David Sneary, excellent.

In the Legislative Assembly, Ben Harrison was elected speaker of the house. Enid was represented with a mere sixteen delegates. The limit was four. The other twelve representatives were merely observers with voting power. The return voyage home was a pleasant one, with a bright outlook for future trips.

The second voyage was a short one, from the standpoint of distance, as we just went to Phillips University. But the crew fared quite well with Pat Phillips winning first in extemp, and Kay Dailey winning second. In the boy's extemp, Tommy Thomason won third and Ralph Myers, fourth. In radio speaking, Bert Bucher and David Sneary won first and third, respectively. Jerrie Pinkerton won first in her division in girls' radio, and Margaret Luhr won fourth. But the debaters almost got washed overboard with the four-man teams of Bert Bucher, Margaret Luhr, Kay Dailey and Paula Paine winning only one debate out of four, and Ben Harrison, Kent Corey, Paul Rempel and Bob Murray winning two out of four. Others participating were Rosetta Hoyle and Betty Jo Albright in dramatic reading, Mike Nicolson and Suda Bobbitt in humorous reading, Wade Chambers and Bob Murray in public address. Bert Bucher and Ben Harrison in original oratory. The good ship E. H. S. Speech Department captured the Phillips contest and brought aboard the Second Place Sweepstakes Trophy.

With this victory, the crew and its captain, Mrs. Una Lee Voigt, turned the ship south towards the port of Oklahoma City. This contest was a five-state affair with the best schools in the state taking part. The crew landed with the hope of victory and visions of the first place trophy in mind. Enid's debate teams won a total of 18 debates. On the teams were, Tom Thomason and Ray Asfahl won 3, Raul Rempel, Kent Corey, Bert Bucher, and David Sneary, won 2, Wade Chambers and Ralph Myers won 3, Richard Gott and James Landrum won 1, Mike Geis and Dick Scarritt won 3, Carolyn Muir and Carolyn Lacy won 2, and Pat Phillips and Kay Dailey won 4. Two members of the crew won firsts, Kent Corey, after dinner speaking, and Mary Edith Taylor, poetry, and two winning second, Wade Chambers, standard oratory, and Bert Bucher, original oratory. Others entering were Ann Hayes and Norma Thompson, dramatic literature, Sandra Barris and Gregg Bond, humorous reading, Bert Bucher and Ray Asfahl, extemp, Paula Paine and Pat Phillips, Girls extemp. Judy Grove, original oratory, Cinda Siler, standard oratory, Pat Phillips, after dinner speaking, and Marilyn Giles, poetry. When the points were counted the good ship E.H.S. Speech Dept. found that Enid had won the first place sweepstakes! The Skipper, Mrs. Voigt was presented a 24-inch gold trophy. Yet this was the calm before the storm. The biggest battle was yet to come.

On December 10, only six days after the victory at Oklahoma City the captain and crew were face to face with one of the hardest battles of the year at the Oklahoma Baptist University's annual speech contest at Shawnee, Oklahoma. Of the six debate teams, only two advanced into finals, the A team of Milton Andrews and Paul Rempel and the D team of Kent Corey and Bert Bucher. The other teams were: David Sneary and Bob Murray, won two; Ray Potter and Dan Durham, won one; Tommy Thomason and Wade Chambers, won three and Paula Paine and Cinda Siler won two. No one won first at Shawnee, but Wade Chambers got second in standard oratory, Kay Dailey, second in dramatic reading, and Jerrie Pinkerton, second in radio speaking.

Others participating were Paul Rempel, David Sneary and Kent Corey receiving excellent in discussion, Mike Nicolson, Sanda Barris, and Kent Corey in humorous reading, Kay Dailey, Paula Paine in girls extemp, and Milton Andrews, Bert Bucher, and Bob Murray in boys extemp, Ben Harrison, Bert Bucher and Jerrie Pinkerton in original oratory, Norma Thompson in dramatic reading, Mary Edith Taylor in Bible Reading, Bob Murray in standard oratory, Paula Paine and Mary Edith Taylor in poetry, David Sneary in boys radio, and Cinda Siler and Bob Murray in analysis of public address. But the worst was yet to come.

After weathering the storm at Shawnee the good ship EHS Speech Department turned towards the small port of Blackwell where the crew ex-

On the front row were some first class rooters, Charles Clark, Earl Haggard, Chiquita Hosey, Frances Peyton, Mary Dye, John Patterson, and James Kendrick.

Questioning the doorman, Katy Bunnell, we found that the gang had headed for the Krypton Plant on Saturn. We rushed to the plant to talk to the manager, Lawrence George, and foreman, Clydene Boehs.

They doubled the guard immediately. On duty were Leslie Caton, Carol Bowers, Lois Wright, William Cox, Helen Rainey, and Robert Morris.

Being notified that the thieves had gone on because of the well-guarded plant, we headed for the shop for the blast off.

Cadet Jenkins, seeing the Strato-gem on the secro-retroverter, notified Commander, who set the course for Uranus.

Upon arrival on the tiny planet, we noticed that the people were all rushing in the same direction. We happened to see Johnny Vosburg whom we stopped to ask what was going on. He replied quickly that he was going to the supersonic ball-game. We started to ask him who was playing, but he was gone. We went in the same direction as the people were going until we came to Rocket Stadium. Paying the ticket taker, Donna Roberts, two diamonds per person, we made ourselves comfortable for the game between the Neptune Nutty Nine and the Pluto Planetarium Prevaricators. Those on the Nutty Nine were Terry Ingram, Tom Adams, Dean Lukenbaugh, Jim Reim, Doug Young, Don Le Crone Jim Legg, Don Seltenreich with Steve Meitler as captain. Heading the opposing Prevaricators was Roxy Lewey as captain. Her teammates were Janet Kindt, Tacie McKinnon, Pat Phillips, Barbara Kutz, Deleta McGugin, Bernice Wagner, and Judy Goucher. Umpiring the game were John Pounds and Nancy Harding. Some of our old acquaintances we saw in the audience. Among them were Willis Babb, Mike Austin, Gloria Loomis, Mary Jo Langford, and George Rinehart.

Our Mission was almost forgotten as we watched the cheerleaders, Larry Long, Jim Brown, Elwyn Maddox, Kenneth Goodloe, Ronald La Porte and Rodger Cornelius.

Suddenly we saw a ball of fire. It was the Stratogem blasting off. We rushed quickly back to our positions on the ship and prepared for take off.

We had almost overtaken the Stratogem when the funniest thing happened—No fuel!

We set our glide path for the nearest asteroid station which was run by the Warren twins, Melvin and Marvin. We were refueled by their attendants, Shirley Haskins and Fred Brewer, Paula Paine and Jo Nelson.

Again in pursuit of the thieves who had outdistanced us, we received a message on our televiewer from the captain of the U.B.I. Organization, Ray Potter. His report was that cadets Jean Hampton, Bob Murray, Dorothy Hart, Freddy Campbell and Betty Galusha had seen the fleeing ship pass by their patrol station, headed for Neptune.

Arriving in Neptune we saw a water show in progress. Those doing fancy flips and dives were Jo Albright, Marlene Cline, Jeaneen Collier, Carolyn Boyer, Pat Brogdon, Carol Cashion, Jo Ann Templeman, Barbara Wilkins, Donnie Raymond, George Ragan, Phil Schrock, Richard Streckler.

Those vieing for the title of King Neptune were: Pug Gammon, Don Guerkind, Jerry Grammont, Bill Hall, Doyle Mauk, Melvin Semrad, Bill Athey, Bob Davis, Owen Wilson, and Jerry Wasemiller.

Those on the judging panel were: Carolyn Higgins, Marjorie Hendricks, Mary Lynne Hopkins, Carol Hoyle, Dolores Rickabaugh, and Carrie Carter.

To crown the king a contest was held for a Queen Neptuna. On the platform were Janice Roberts, Kay Canady, Pat Thayer, Hilda Stein, Pat Jones, Kay McNeal and Jeanne Pearce being judged by David Daniels, David Adams, Jim McGinnis, Bob O'Brien, Max Painton, and Donnie Nolte.

That evening a ball was held for the pair. Among the whirling beboppers we noticed Jo Ann Jack, Joyce Maupin, Arnold Hipkins, Mary Johnson, Ted Schneider, Obara Chrisman, Jack Schlarb, Lois Morris, Jerry Wilkins, Jeanie McClure and Sammy Arnold.

Providing entertainment were the Four Hepcats and a Kitten, Scooter Newman, Garold Henson, Jim White, Larry Campbell and Carolyn Muir. They gave us their rendition of a Lonely Asteroid and This Ole Planet as written by the famous composer June Jordon in collaboration with Harry Martin. MC, Ruth Ann Brown, introduced the sway music of the Starpickers. On sax were Beverly Leeper, Louise Lavicky, Loretta Klasing, and Beverly Cox; playing the brass were Beatrice Cross, Dixie Ent, Joan Green, Everett Kelly, Tommy Ogden and Carol Litterell. On the rhythm instruments were Arlene Long, Bessie Mangus, Bertus Lambert and Wilma Morris. This crew of rhythm and blues players was led by Charles McGee. This entertainment was brought to the planet by the public relations agents, Joe Purdue and Noble McLemore.

Suddenly the lights went out. Through the ensuing confusion a switch was finally found. When the room was relighted, the girls discovered that their krypton jewelry had disappeared. The Neptune police force was immediately called in. Captain Bob Kurz and Sergeants Jerry McHenry and Barbara Burdick questioned the doormen: Donna Newland, Ruth Noah, and Carl Thompson. The girls told them that seven masked men had run by.

We quickly rushed after them and found that they had already left. We found ourselves headed for the outer planet, Pluto. As we neared the planet, our braking rockets gave out, and we were in a dead fall heading towards Pluto.

Immediately an ambulance driven by Phil Woolwine, came screaming out after us. Luckily none of us were seriously hurt, but Dr. David Sneary with his nurses, Barbara Smith and Linda Williams, had us patched up and made us ready to follow our quest in no time at all.

We headed for the known hang-outs of Baby-faced Benjie. We were told by a Plutopop dealer, Larry Harmon, that Benjie and the gang had gone to the hound races.

When we arrived with the help of a few local "P.P.F.'s" (Pluto Police Force), Bernard Pfaff, June Parham, Charles Dulany, and Donna Carson; we surrounded the track. Agents Durham and Jones entered the track to look for the gang. We bumped into Charles Gasaway and Jimmy Hart betting on their tickets from the bookie, Larry Day. All of a sudden we saw them. Once they saw they were surrounded, they surrendered. Now it was back to earth for the trial.

We took a transport of the Unruh (Martha) and Price (Martha) Lines.

The Edna Smith Tribune predicted not guilty but the famous commentator, Richard Davis, predicted them guilty. What would be the verdict?

The bailiff, Marva Turner, silenced the court as his honor Judge Edward Eugene Cole entered the courtroom. The jurors, Vona Snyder, Violet Scheffe, Michael Doremus, Francis Shultz, Paul Grizzle, Arlene Teske, and our old class sponsors, Mr. Cecil Gott, Miss Charlotte Kretsch, Mr. Perry McCoy, Miss Ruth Scott, Miss Muriel Koger, and Mr. Tom Kennedy, listened to the pleas of Prosecuting Attorney, Herbert (Buddy) Champlin and Wayne Griesel, the defense attorney, to bring about the verdict of guilty in the ninth degree. Some of the leading witnesses were John Rempel, Walter Heavens, just look at the list of "Backward" people that were on the student council. Could it be, that these sophomores are really getting somewhere? Mike Metscher, Janet Jones, Judy Denton, Howard Roe, Dorothy Resler, Karen Ludwig, Jim Osborne, Paul Ruth, Bob Bish, Larry Baldwin, Alice Carroll, Sue Arnold, Claudia Shannon, James Pride, Diane Miller, and Dennis Gibson.

The machine shop also had a fine roster of sophies: Gene Burchfield, G. J. Brune, Jim Froese, Ronald Huffman, Robert Koehn, J. W. McGee, Floyd Peat, Riley Penner, and Wendall Stanton.

The list of Future Nurses does look rather encouraging: Alice Carol, Norma Chapman, Mildred Cole, Myrna Goodpasture, Pearl Guthrie, Sharon Kehn, Linda Henry, Jo Ann Kudlac, Frances McCord, Barbara Pearce, Karen Vickers and Phyllis Williamson.

And there's even a larger list in the Home Ec Club: Sandra Babb, Betty Barnes, Pat Danahay, Barbara Failing, Gretchen Fields, Alice Gundlach, Claudine Harris, Brenda Hartshorne, Jerry Knarr, Pat McDaniel, Pat Martin, Cleo Mielke, Diane Miller, Judy Record, and Peggy Robinson.

No less than four of these creatures are in the Palette Club, Carol Grimes, Pat Howard, Walt Bowart and Ruth Ann Brown.

My stars alive, even found a sophomore debater, Carolyn Lacy in a class full of juniors and seniors! What is this world coming to?

Do you suppose that maybe somebody "goofed" in the prediction that sophomores are "Shy, timid, backward little creatures?"

Miss Young, Mrs. Pratt, Mr. Myers, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Michael, sophomore class sponsors, certainly think otherwise!

the Boomer party. Then the campaigning began. Campaign signs and slogans were seen all over the campus. That evening the elections were held, then the girls were entertained by a quartet of gospel singers. Finally, the anxiously awaited election results were announced. Pat Phillips had been elected Governor! The auditorium became an uproar.

The offices of the other girls from Enid were: City Treasurer and City Election Board, Karen Crowley; Justice of the Supreme Court, Deanna Spickelmier; Clerk for the Senate and City Commissioner, Jerrie Pinkerton; and runner-up for State Representative and member of Oklahoma Library Commission, Carolyn Muir.

On Wednesday the legislatures were organized, the House of Representatives by State Representatives John A. Camp and George Nigh, and the Senate by Senator Don Baldwin. At noon an impressive citizenship ceremony was conducted by Mrs. Alfred Rice, President of the American Legion Auxiliary, when the colors of the two parties were joined and the girls became citizens of Girls' State instead of party members. That evening the Inaugural Dinner was held, and all the State officers were inaugurated. The oath of office was administered by N. B. Johnson, the Chief Justice of the State Supreme Court, and an address was given by Johnston Murray, former Governor of Oklahoma. After the Inauguration a reception was held in honor of the newly elected officers, which was attended by Girls' State Citizens, alumni of Girls' State, and visitors from all over the state.

Thursday morning, the Senate and House of Representatives held both a separate and joint session. That afternoon, Miss Margaret Behringer, an attorney from Oklahoma City and Judge John A. Brett, from the State Criminal Court of Appeals organized the courts, which then held a mock trial. The girls had a picnic Thursday evening, then every girl participated in her city's stunt for Amateur Hour.

On Friday each city selected an outstanding citizen; then these girls were presented medals before the entire assembly. The last class of the week, held Friday afternoon, was entitled "The State of Oklahoma". The girls told about the industries, parks, and other features in the cities they came from. Then at 6:30, dressed in their party dresses, the girls loaded into the busses to go to Norman for the Girls' State-Boys' State Dance. The band that played for the dance was composed of citizens of Boys' State. At 11:30, the girls reluctantly loaded into the busses again to start the return trip to Chickasha.

Saturday morning, the last morning at Chickasha, two girls gave a summary of Girls' State, and each girl received a certificate showing her achievements while at Girls' State. Also the director for 1954, Mrs. R. L. Parker, announced that Pat Phillips and Barbara Marcum would represent Oklahoma at Girls' Nation. After singing the song "Oklahoma" as no other group could ever sing it, and retiring the colors, the girls said goodbye and started for home.

The girls from Enid caught a train back home where a welcoming committee was waiting for them. The five girls from Enid feel deeply indebted to the American Legion Auxiliary and their individual sponsors for making it possible for them to participate in that wonderful week at Chickasha, and they only wish that every girl in Enid could have that experience.

Dear Diary,

Today we had a lot of excitement in Bravettes (girls pep club). Miss Pat Armould and Miss Betty Higgins, our sponsors, told us that we were taking a bus to the Classen-Enid basketball game. I wonder if it will be as much fun as when we rode buses to Norman for the football game!

By the way, the officers are: Deanna Spickelmier, Jerrie Pinkerton, Cherrel Nall, Carolyn Walters, and Deleta McGugin.

Dear Diary,

"To be or not to be"!

Since formally being initiated into the Thespian drama society on February 16, I have definitely decided to become an actress.

"Room For One More", the Thespian production, was quite a hit. I might add that it was the first play to be given in the newly finished auditorium of EHS.

Most of the credit for this year's work goes to Mrs. Delyte Poindexter and the officers. They include Karen Crowley, president; Rosetta Hoyle, vice-president; Pat Sharp, secretary; Wade Chambers, treasurer, and John Rempel, clerk. Class representatives were Paul Rempel and Elaine Palecek.

Today was an important day for the members of the French club, Les Copains. It was the day of the annual French club dinner. Mrs. Howard Johndrow was the guest speaker at the occasion.

The officers for the first semester were: Jane Johnstone, Owen Wilson, Dorothy Purnell, Janet Dage, and Carol Franks.

Second semester officers include: Eleanor Northrup, Deanna Spickelmier, Buddy Champlin, Nancy Earnest and Ann Hayes.

Miss Addie Fromholz sponsors Les Copains.

Oh! I'm so confused.

I just heard some EHS students debating the subject, Resolved: The federal government should initiate a policy of free trade among nations friendly to the United States.

It seems that the debate teams and their coach, Mrs. Una Voigt, have attended tournaments at Oklahoma City, Alva, Shawnee, Norman, Edmond and Phillips University this year.

With all that debating, you'd think they would have drawn a conclusion by now!

scored 350 points over the season and averaged 13.46 points per game. He was also named to the All-Conference team.

A tragic three-game road trip at the first of the campaign got the Plainsmen off to the wrong foot in season's action. Enid lost in an overtime to the Guymon Tigers 48-46, and then went westward to the Borger, Texas Invitational Tournament. The host Texans walloped the Plainsmen 82-55 to hand Enid its second loss in as many outings. In the consolation game at the Texas roundball tourney, the Capitol Hill Redskins dumped Geymann's boys 48-38. The Lubbock quintet had defeated the Redskins in first round play, but lost to Borger in the finals.

The Plainsmen finally got into the winning groove by taking successive wins over the Ponca City Wildcats by a 66-36 verdict and over the Woodward Boomers 77-52. Skarky pumped in 22 and 23 points in each of the two contests to pace the team scoring in the earlier part of the season.

Enid was upset by a surprisingly strong team from Blackwell 61-52 on the losers' home court. That defeat was later avenged on the Blackwell floor, 54-49.

On Dec. 21, the Plainsmen avenged a second of their defeats by blasting Guymon 65-50. Skarky hit 27 points in the game, his season high.

In conference action, the Plainsmen won 5 and lost 5. They topped the Shawnee Wolves twice, 69-57 and 82-57. Enid registered two decisions over the Central Cardinals of Oklahoma City with 64-44 and 64-41 verdicts. The fifth loop win was the 63-59 conquest of the Norman Tigers.

In the 82-57 rout of Shawnee, Wedel tied the Enid High School scoring record of 36 points, set by Jimmy Hurd in 1951. The red-hot redhead hit 13 fieldgoals and sank 10 of 11 charity tosses.

The Plainsmen could not seem to make a dent in the spotless record of the towering Classen Comets as they bowed to the Cityans twice, 54-44 and 70-64. The Comets captured the championship trophy at the Enid Invitational Tournament held in Convention Hall by defeating Ponca City and El Reno on consecutive nights.

In the regional tournament held March 11 and 12 in Sand Springs, the boys from the Wheat Capitol outlasted the host Sandites 44-36 in their first round struggle. This victory was one of the most impressive showings of the year by Enid. In the hard fought game, Wedel received an ankle injury that deprived him of playing in the next game against the Bartlesville Wildcats. In the game, the Wildcats jumped to a first quarter lead on spurts by their aces Bobby Green and Dave Baker, and Bartlesville, being aware that they didn't have the tools to shoot it out with the Plainsmen, played keepaway basketball and emerged with a 39-31 victory.

Eight seniors and five juniors comprised the thirteen lettermen on the squad. Seniors earning monograms were: Ronnie Wedel, Terry Ingram, Pug Gammon, Johnny Vosburg, Melvin Semrad, John Pellow and managers Phil Jones and Jim Reim. Juniors who lettered were Floyd Skarky, Ronnie Feger, Gail Crawford, H. L. Crites and manager Bob Bailey.

The return of the junior lettermen will give Coach Geymann a solid nucleus to build next year's team on.

The "B" squad, under the coaching of Jim Stroup, had another successful season, winning 14 and losing only 6. This year's "B" teamers were: Dean Montgomery, Bob Dundas, John Doop, Billy Max Francis, Gary Grimes, Bobby Hayes, Jerry Keeling, Bob Bish, Barry Clements, Gene Bodes, Gary Thrasher, John

On Thursday, April 7, Capitol Hill, Classen, Central, Norman, Shawnee, and Enid gathered in Norman for the Mid-State Conference meet. John Pellow's 10.3 second 100 yard dash was good for second place. He finished first in the 220 yard dash with a time of 22.6. The 880 relay team of Lang, Athey, Harlan, and Francis took third place honors. Ronnie Wedel cleared 6 feet to win the high jump and the pole vault. Weldon and H. L. Crites were third and fourth, respectively, in the broad jump. Dennis Gibson, Lang, Athey, and Harlan ran the mile relay in 3:39.8 which was good enough for third. The Weary Warriors returned to West Wabash with third meet honors.

Seven Plainsmen tracksters entered the Northern Oklahoma Junior College track meet, held Saturday, April 9, at Tonkawa. Enid's seven thin-clads placed second behind a 33 man Tulsa Central team. Ronnie Wedel tied the state high jump record of 6 feet 5½ inches set in 1946 by Bill Bill Francis won a third ribbon in the 100 yard dash. Weldon was tops in both the pole vault and the broad jump, bringing home championship in both events. H. L. Crites was third in the broadjump followed by Terry Ingram in fourth place. The Plainsmen 880 yard relay team of Bill Lang, Billy Max Francis, Terry Ingram and John Pellow grabbed a second. It had been a busy day for the seven speedsters, but every man brought home something to show for it.

The following week found no rest for the thinclads as they journeyed to the Bison Relays in Shawnee Friday and the Edmond Track Meet in Edmond Saturday.

The Plainsmen took third place title at the Bison Relays just 1 $\frac{1}{2}$  points behind second place Classen. Pellow earned third in the 100 yard dash. The 880 relay team of Bill Francis, Bill Athey, Tom Harlan and John Pellow was nosed out by inches at the tape, placing second. Wedel took the high jump clearing the bar at 6 feet 2 inches while Weldon was second jumping 6 feet. Terry Ingram's 21 feet 6 $\frac{3}{4}$  inch leap was the best of the day in the broad jump.

Weldon took the third place medal in the broad jump and tied for first in the pole vault. Dennis Gibson, Bill Lang, Bill Athey and Tom Harlan ran the mile relay in 3:39.6 placing fourth and wrapping up the meet with Enid in third place.

The next day the exhausted tracksters placed fourth in the Edmond Meet. John Pellow was third in the 100 yard dash and second in the 220 yard dash. Bill Francis, Bill Athey, Tom Harlan, and John Pellow passed the baton along to fourth place in the 880 yard relay. The field events found Ronnie Wedel and Don Weldon again tied for first in the high jump. Donnie pole-vaulted to third place honors and broad jumped to second place honors while H. L. Crites' fourth in the broad jump wound up the team's scoring.

The Regionals, held in Tonkawa, attracted teams from the northern part of the state including Enid, marking the high point in the thin-clad's season. The teamsters rolled up 39 points to edge out Stillwater by 2½ points and win them the first place trophy. John Marler scored fourth in both the 120 yard high hurdles and the 180 yard low hurdles. John Pellow earned first medals in both the 100 and 200 yard dashes with the respective times of 10.2 seconds and 22.1 seconds against a strong wind. Enid's 880 yard relay team, Bill Francis, Bill Athey, Tom Harlan and John Pellow finished second. Placing fourth in the 440 yard dash was Bill Lang. Don Weldon cracked the pole vault record with 11 feet and 4 inches. Not satisfied with one record, he broadjumped 21 feet  $\frac{1}{2}$  inch, breaking Terry Ingram's mark of 21 feet even set last year. Weldon placed second in the high jump, as teammate Ronnie Wedel managed third, attempting jumps with a pulled muscle. Charles Bailey hurled the shot to third place title and Billy Max Francis was third in the broad jump. In the final event, the mile relay, Bill Lang, Bill Athey, Tom Harlan and John Pellow finished with a time of 3:40 to win first, and Enid took home the trophy for top team scoring in the Regional Track Meet.

The winners of Regionals qualify for state, where each individual puts his bid in for championship in his particular event. Enid had qualified eight men for the State track and field meet to be held next week, April 29-30. The Aggie Relays, which had been called off due to bad weather, were rescheduled for Wednesday, May 4, the week following the state tournament.

Due to the fact that the annual went to press before these last two track meets were held, no account can be given as to their outcome.

The Aggie Relays, held in Stillwater, brought to a close the 1955 track season. It had been the job of each individual to prepare himself for the stiff competition in his event. Although track is less publicized, its training and conditioning can be considered the roughest of all sports. Congratulations to Coach Paine and the Plainsmen track squad for their fine representation of Enid in Oklahoma track circles.

Here's the toughest motor oil ever built to give your engine guaranteed lubrication regardless of sudden temperature changes. It flows instantly at sub-zero temperatures, yet retains longer lasting film of protection that prevents engine wear under extreme driving conditions at high temperatures. It's powerful detergency action removes sludge, varnish and carbon from dirty engines and keeps them clean. Piston rings and valves stay free of carbon and other by-products of fuel combustion and oil oxidation. New Champlin HI-V-I prevents sticking valves and keeps engines smooth running with less fuel consumption regardless of outside temperatures.

the first three innings and four runs in the fourth, Enid coasted to a 7-1 victory with Bob Atkinson hurling. Terry Ingram, continuing his hitting spree, connected for a triple and a single in three trips to the plate. Meitler got two singles.

Playing Central on April 4, the Plainsmen defeated the Cardinals 16-6. Terry Ingram hit a homerun and double to lead the Enid hitters. Don Weldon got four hits while Melvin Semrad and Bob Davis got three hits each. E. H. S. got 16 runs on 16 hits and three errors while Central had 6 runs, 8 hits and 7 errors. Keeling got credit for the fourth conference win for the Plainsmen.

Enid High School played the Capitol Hill Redskins on April 11 to wrestle for the Conference lead. Both teams had 4-1 records going into the contest. Bob Atkinson, bothered with a sore arm the week before, went the entire route for the Plainsmen and lost by a score of 5-3 in the sixth inning. The Plainsmen had come from behind in the top of the sixth and led 3-2, until Capitol Hill scored three times in the last half to ice the game. H. L. Crites led Enid's hitting by getting two of the six hits the team managed.

Carole Shelp, Spring Sports Queen, was crowned April 12, preceding the Enid-Alva game. Enid went on to defeat Alva 8-3 behind Bob Conklin and Don Carey. Carey struck out eight of the 10 he faced and walked only one. Bob Davis and Terry Ingram both hit triples, while the Alva pitcher was being pounded for 10 hits.

The day following the Alva game, the Plainsmen journeyed to Norman to play the Tigers in a double-header. The first game went until the ninth inning with the lead see-sawing back and forth. Then in the last half of the ninth, Norman scored a run and took the victory. It was one of Enid's worst games with the team making five errors. The loser was Ronald LaPorte, who pitched a two hit ball game for the six innings he pitched.

In the nite-cap, Enid scored four times off the Tiger's ace, John Woodall, while Bob Atkinson held Norman to three runs on five hits. Gary Bloom got one of Enid's two hits, which was rather surprising for it was discovered the next day that Gary's arm was broken. He had been hit in the arm on the previous Tuesday by an Alva pitcher but nothing was thought about it until the pain became intense. X-Rays showed the arm was broken and Gary was ordered not to play for the rest of the season. Enid's record to date in the conference was six wins and three losses.

Taking off again the next day, Enid traveled to Classen for the fourth conference clash and the fifth game of the week. Don Carey started for the Plainsmen and pitched the first shutout of the season, beating the Comets 2-0. The sophomore right-hander gave up six scattered hits and walked none. Terry Ingram scored both of Enid's runs on sacrifices by John Vosburg. Vosburg also made the fielding play of the day when he raced in on a low line drive, dived for it, rolled over, and came up with it fast in his glove.

The Plainsmen played Ponca City and Garber on Monday and Tuesday preceding the Norman tournament. In both of these games, Enid had a lead but lost it in the final innings. Davis and Spaid hit homeruns for the Plainsmen against Ponca City. The scores of these two games were Ponca City 10, Enid 8, and Garber 6 to Enid's 3.

Entering the Norman tournament, Enid's first game was with Northeast High School of Oklahoma City. Trailing 2-0 in the sixth inning Enid rallied and tied it up. Then, in the eighth inning after two men were out, Vosburg singled and Davis tripled to score the winning run. That afternoon Enid defeated Classen 8-3 to get into the semi-finals.

In the semi-final game, Ronald LaPorte started against Lawton but gave up six hits in the first inning with the Plainsmen's defense collapsing to commit four errors. LaPorte was relieved in the fourth inning by Jerry Keeling. After five innings, Lawton was leading 10-1. Because of the eight run ruling for the tournament, the game was over.

Lawton was defeated in the finals by Central, a team which Enid had earlier beaten 16-6.

The Enid team had shown good team spirit and a strong desire to win. The entire squad had worked well under the advice of Coach John Provost. Provost had looked forward to having a good season. He said, "It may take until the middle of the season to get the pitchers into good form, but we'll have a strong team for the finish. We'll have a higher standing than we had last year."

The squad included Terry Ingram, Bob Davis, Walter Spaid, Melvin Semrad, John Vosburg, Bob Holmes, Jerry Keeling, Don Carey, Bob Atkinson, Vance Peak, Ronald LaPorte, Kenneth Sparks, H. L. Crites, Steve Meitler, Gary Bloom, Todd Dixon, Alan Livingston, Neal Hoffman, and Robert Conklin.

The managers were Raymond Hendrie, Ray Downs, and Buddy Champlin.

wood Country Club on December 18, the State School January 28, and the Enid Business College March 28. The stage band appeared before the students of Enid High School at the valentine assembly at the Education building on February 11. Gregg Bond gave his version of Romeo and Juliet and was emcee of the show keeping the audience in stitches. Kent Corey and the band acting as sound effects teased the students with "Uncle Remus's story of Bre'r Rabbit and Bre'r Fox." The stage band was divided into two bands, the red and blue bands, each had soloists Robert Qualls on the saxophone and David Adams on the cornet. They each played several numbers. Phil Woolwine and Terry Torbett added their two cents worth dancing the rhumba to "Meiauia Inez."

Ponca City High School received the stage band on the Ponca City trade assembly with a great deal of enthusiasm as the bend members along with other E.H.S. students entertained the Poncans in real style.

The German band really did strut their stuff when they played for the ABC Club October 22 all decked out in the traditional black derbys and white suits.

The Quarterback Club felt the real spirit of Enid High when the Pep Band put "the feeling" into their meeting.

The cornet trio represented the band at the dedication assembly of the new wing, cafeteria, and the auditorium March 8.

The band appeared at all of the home basketball games and joined again with the Bravettes in the coronation of perky Phyllis Huffman, Basketball Queen and her attendants Carol Cashion and Cherrel Nall.

Sally Bonham and Mary Jo Langford represented the band at the All State Band Clinic in Norman, Oklahoma.

January 22 the band was asked to help the Phillips University basketball game.

The band looked forward to the coming district, and state, and tri-state music festival.

To finish the year off in fine style the juniors and seniors had a banquet for the seniors.

The year's accomplishments were topped off with the annual "Symphony, Song and Swing," March 17. The program was held in the new EHS auditorium — the first school function to be held there! The first section of the show was composed of classical music and ended with Sandy Barris's reading "The Wonderful Wizard of Oz."

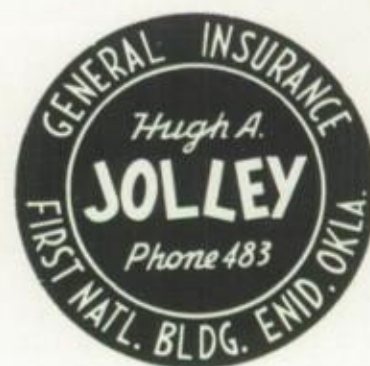

The stage band played several numbers. Then the special features came around. Terry Torbett and Grady King did their special arrangement of the rhumba. The "spook" Torbett dressed in a ghastly ghost costume along with Gregg "Butch" Bond and his dandy drums. Kent "guest conductor" Corey rolled the audience in the aisles when he took over the band in his tux and tails.

The show was ended with Mr. G. R. Bonham who led the band in "Alexander's Ragtime Band."

The officers of the band this year were Phil Jones, president; Garold Henson, vice - president; Emagene Jenkins, secretary; Milton Andrews, publicity manager; David Adams, quarter master; Jerry Wilkins, quarter master; Bill Hill, drum major; Robert Qualls, assistant drum major. The student director was Milton Andrews.

In ending a wonderful year the members look back and all agree that the year was great!

way to paydirt. In the last minute of play, Pellow went 38 yards for the second score of the game.

With 15 Enid Seniors donning the blue and white uniforms for the last time, the Plainsmen traveled to El Reno only to receive their sixth setback of the year. The Enid boys grabbed a 7-0 halftime lead, but let it slip from their grasp in the half, when the Indians exploded for two quick touchdowns in the third stanza. Fullback Jody Farris intercepted an Enid pass and went 53 yards for the touchdown. Moments later, Farris boomed 73 yards on an off-tackle slant to hand his teammates a lead which they never relinquished. All Mid-State halfback Pellow scored the Enid touchdown on a brilliant 68 yard dash. Another All Mid-State performer for the Plainsmen, center Billy Lang, played a tremendous game on defense being in on 11 out of 13 tackles in the first quarter. The Seniors playing their last game were: Johnny Pellow and Terry Ingram (Co-captains), Bill Athey, John Pounds, John O'Neill, Charles Bailey, Carl Stanton, Ray Downs, Steve Meitler, Carl Thompson, Buddy Champlin, Neal Hoffman, Donnie Weldon, Bob Davis, and Larry Long.

Bob Davis led the Plainsmen in the ground-gaining department for the year, amassing a personal total of 659 yards rushing in 117 carries for an average of 5.6 yards per carry. Johnny Pellow averaged 8.2 yards on 80 carries and scored 13 times while throwing three touchdown passes. Donnie Weldon gained 247 yards in 44 attempts for an average of 5.6 yards. Weldon scored five touchdowns. Quarterback Terry Ingram, who handled the bulk of the Enid passing duties, completed 22 out of 68 passes for completion percentage of 34 per cent. Pellow punted 36 times for an average of 31 yards per boot. Grady King punted twice for a 33 yard average. Ray Downs hit 18 out of 27 attempted extra points during the 1954 Plainsmen season.

The Enid B's in 1954 had their best season in many years. Coached by John Provost and Jim Stroup, the B's had an impressive 7-win and 1-loss record.

They squeaked by Stillwater and Blackwell by the identical 13-12 score, and then outfought Ponca Military Academy 27-6.

The subs played most of the last half as Carmen was downed 44-7. In the return game with blackwell the Jayvee's ran roughshod over the Maroons, winning 40-14. The next week against the second best class C team in the state, the Laverne Tigers, they were overwhelmed 54-13.

Easy return wins, 40-14 over P.M.A., and 28-13 over Stillwater concluded one of the most successful seasons the B Enid Plainsmen Footballers have had in many a year.

Bon Voyage for Speech

pected a momentary resting place. Yet, this, too, proved a strain for the weary old ship, for only one person won a first, this was Pat Phillips in extemp with Kay Dailey second. The debate teams, too, found the Blackwell Intact Tournament quite rough. The three teams won a total of only five debates with only the A team of Ben Harrison and Bert Bucher advancing into the semi-finals. The other teams both won one debate. These teams consist of Milton Andrews and Paul Rempel, the other one, Pat Phillips and Paula Paine. The others participating were Ben Harrison, Bert Bucher and Judy Grove in original oratory; Ralph Myers, Paul Rempel and Paula Paine in analysis of public address; Milton Andrews, Wade Chambers, and David Sneary in boys extemp; Bob Murray, Ann Hayes, and Wade Chambers in standard oratory, Rosetta Hoyle and Kay Dailey in dramatic reading, and Suda Bobbitt and Mike Nicolson in humorous reading. Enid ranked second to Blackwell at the Blackwell Tourney. But every cloud has its silver lining, for Enid was to receive its biggest win at the next port.

The battle worn ship limped into Alva with its crew still smarting from its bitter loss at Blackwell. The Alva tournament looked like one of the hardest of the year, but to everyone's surprise, Enid pulled the sweepstakes out of the hat with the Enid A debate team winning first, and Enid B winning second. The A team consisted of Kent Corey and Pat Phillips while the B team was Bert Bucher and Ben Harrison. Ten people qualified for the state contest. These were Karen Crowley, poetry, Mike Nicolson, humorous reading; Rosetta Hoyle, dramatic reading; Bert Bucher, original oratory; Wade Chambers, public address; Melvin Semrad, radio speaking; Margaret Luhr, girls radio; David Sneary, discussion; Ben Harrison, boys extemp and Kay Dailey, girls extemp. Enid simply carried everything home from Alva. The other students entered were Mary Edith Taylor, Sandy Barris, Bob Murray, Jerry Wilkins, Suda Bobbitt, Paul Rempel, and the radio play. All in all, the Alva trip was quite worthwhile.

With hopes for another sweepstakes trophy, the good ship EHS Speech Department turned towards the Edmond tournament. This is known by debaters as "Little State" because if you can win here, you can win at the state contest. Just as the crew had expected, the trip was quite rough. Enid led the way to the sweepstakes, but at the last minute Central High School pulled away from Enid to win the trophy by only two points. But Enid had her radio play and one act play both qualify for the state meet. Also qualifying were Ralph Myers in analysis of public address, and Milton Andrews in discussion. Paul Rempel won third in analysis of public address, David Sneary won superior, in discussion, and Kent Corey won third in boys extemp. Others entered were Pat Phillips and Kay Dailey in girls extemp, Bert Bucher and Melvin Semrad in original oratory, Charles Hicks, Kay Watson and Marilyn Giles in poetry, Mike Nicolson and Sandy Barris in humorous reading, Suda Bobbitt and Mike Nicolson in radio speaking, Paula Paine and Tommy Thomason in public address, Bob Holcomb and Norma Thompson in dramatic reading. The Enid crew wasn't dismayed at their near win, for they were just resting from their sweep at Alva.

The good ship EHS Speech Department landed at Midwest City for the second N. F. L. Congress of the year. The fifteen delegates scored a record number of N. F. L. points. Ben Harrison was elected the outstanding representative, and Pat Phillips was nominated for the National Congress this summer in California. High point man was Kent Corey of the Senate and Paul Rempel of the House.

On March 11, the ship turned east to the N. F. L. District Tournament at Stillwater. The debate teams went a total of six rounds. The A team of Kent Corey and Pat Phillips went four, and the B team of Ben Harrison and Bert Bucher went only two. Pat Phillips went six rounds to win first in girls extemp. Ben Harrison, too, went six rounds, but he received fourth. Kay Dailey went four rounds in girls extemp;

Paul Rempel went three rounds. Ray Asfahl, Wade Chambers and Mike Nicholson went two rounds in their individual events. Ann Hayes went four rounds in public address to go on into the finals. In the final tabulations, Enid came in third for the sweepstakes.

The weary ship paused one day at Enid to be the hosts of the third N. F. L. Congress, March 26. Over thirteen schools came to the congress with over 100 participating. Enid again took top honors as four delegates from Enid were given honors. Ben Harrison was nominated for National Congress along with Paul Rempel and Bert Bucher. Outstanding representatives were Milton Andrews, Bert Bucher and Paul Rempel. The Nineteen Enid students totaled up 208 N. F. L. congress points. Another triumph for the battle worn, unsinkable ship.

Through rain, sleet, hail and dust storms, nothing can stop the progress of the good ship EHS Speech Department. With two first place trophies, one second place trophy, and many happy hours of past achievements and honors, the speech students look forward to the crowning achievement of the year, the State Tournament at Norman. As a helmsman sees far off shore, the senior members of the crew see their last contest of their high school career. These seniors were Milton Andrews, Bert Bucher, Kent Corey, Karen Crowley, Kay Dailey, Ben Harrison, Ralph Myers, Mike Nicolson, Rosetta Hoyle, Margaret Luhr, David Sneary, Melvin Semrad, and Pat Phillips. These are the members of the crew that will never embark on another voyage with the loyal crew. But there are many more recruits for the good ship, for Mrs. Poindexter this year, has 68 bright eyed sophomores ready to take the places vacated by the senior members of the good ship, E. H. S. Speech Department.

Grove, Mary Beth Donnell, Jane Carey, Carolyn Higgins, Mona Lichtenberg, Cherrel Nall, Carol Cashion, Kay Dailey, Pat Dennis, Ben Harrison, Donna O'Neill, Pat Phillips, Jo Ann Templeman, Jo Ellen Barnes, Buddy Champlin, Kent Corey, Emogene Jenkins, Roxy Lewey, Deanna Spickelmier, Terry Torbett, Janet Wever, Deanna Fisher, Marilyn Fraizer, Dan Durham, Carolyn Muir, Jerrie Pinkerton, Linda Robbins, Camilla Woods, Karen Crowley, Jim Sturdivant, Barbara Wilkins.

Miss Ruth Scott is the sponsor of the Journalism department. Mr. Seem is to be congratulated for his efficient help in getting the Quill out also.

The purpose of the Quill is to inform the students of Enid High School of its comprehensive program of activities, and to provide amusement and entertainment for the students with a variety of feature stories, humor columns, and make-up. The staff has tried to represent the student body as a whole editorially. If they have succeeded, the reward is theirs.

*To the grandest of all Teachers
I ever met. Of all the teachers
I have ever been under I have never enjoyed any better than
you. Good Luck with future classes
Ralph Rogers*

Mr. Tuckett,

Well, I don't know if my great ancestors wrote in your great ancestors' book or not but it really gave me a thrill for you to ask me to lend a pen.
I do want to thank you, Mr. Tuckett, for everything you've helped me in. I knew that <sup>you</sup> I wasn't aware of it, but you've helped me in other ways besides biology!
When you speak of your hearing, etc., it really touches me. First of all, seriously, it helps me realize how thankful I am for my hearing and then, not quite so seriously, it helps me overcome my inferiority (sp?)
complex for being 'deaf Jeanne'! It's really been enjoyable being with you this year and I always look forward to seeing your smile, expressed to every student in the hall and the classroom. Thank you again and I'll always remember you. Jeanne Morris
